CAMPUS SAFETY AND SECURITY

Purpose and Overview

The information contained in this publication is compiled in cooperation with the Department of Campus Safety Services, the Office of University Housing and Residential Life, the Office of Facilities Management, the Office of University Counsel and local law enforcement agencies. This publication is prepared in accordance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (the "Clery Act") and is provided as a safety service to the Temple community. Each member of the Temple community receives an electronic notification through e-mail with a direct web link to this report. The report can also be accessed electronically through the Campus Safety Services website at www.temple.edu/safety. Prospective students and prospective employees will be directed to the Annual Safety and Fire Safety Report (ASFSR). Printed copies are available upon request by calling Campus Safety Services at (215) 204-7900, or through e-mail at police@temple.edu.

All criminal incidents occurring on campus at Temple should be reported to the Department of Campus Safety Services, which oversees Temple Police, for effective response and documentation. Campus Safety Services works closely with local police departments surrounding each campus. Campus Safety Services reports all criminal incidents to the local police departments surrounding each campus, and these local police departments in turn supply Campus Safety Services with reports of incidents for the area surrounding each campus. Yearly statistical information on criminal incidents is reported to the Pennsylvania State Police for publication in the Pennsylvania Uniform Crime Report.

On a daily basis, Campus Safety Services provides a daily crime log of incidents reported to Temple Police to the student newspaper, Temple News; to the News and Media Relations Office; to residential life staff for distribution to all on-campus student housing facilities; and to various administrative offices around campus. The Temple community also has access to this crime log at the Campus Safety Services website (www.temple.edu/safety).

Temple Police Locations

The Department of Campus Safety Services provides service to a diverse Temple community 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. The department oversees the security operations within and surrounding 178 buildings, spanning approximately 333 acres. Temple Police locations can be found around the Main Campus, as well as throughout the Health Sciences Center and Ambler campuses.

- Temple Police Headquarters - 1101 W. Montgomery Ave., Philadelphia
- Temple Police Center Station - Corner of Beasley Walk and Polett Walk, Philadelphia
- Temple Police at Health Sciences Campus - Parkinson Pavilion, Broad and Tioga Streets, Philadelphia
- Temple Police at Ambler Campus - Bright Hall, Upper Dublin, PA

These sites function as resource centers where individuals can interact with representatives from Campus Safety Services, obtain vital information, pick up campus maps and ID holders and contact departmental personnel about additional programs and services.

On a typical day, Campus Safety Services staff can be seen around campus directing traffic, responding to inquiries, conducting prevention programs and interacting with the community in a variety of functions. Foot patrol officers maintain positive relations with the Temple community, as they patrol specific sectors and are available to serve as walking escorts. While on patrol, officers are highly visible in marked patrol vehicles and on bicycles wearing distinctive uniforms that are visible at a distance.

While on foot patrol, Officer Bernard circulates as students are going to class.

Relationship with Local Law Enforcement

Campus Safety Services maintains a collaborative network with many law enforcement agencies, working closely with the Philadelphia Police Department, SEPTA, Pennsylvania State Police and other law enforcement agencies. Temple Police do not have a written Memorandum of Understanding with any state or local law enforcement agency.

Temple Police is currently made up of over 120 Temple police officers (including supervisors and detectives) patrolling area campuses. Each officer is a Pennsylvania-certified law enforcement officer who has received state-mandated police recruit training at an accredited police academy and is authorized to enforce the law and make arrests similar to any municipal police department. Annually, Temple Police officers refresh their skills and knowledge by attending state-mandated, in-service training in accordance with the Municipal Police Officers' Education and Training Commission (MPOTEC). Training modules include certification in C.P.R. and the use of Automated External Defibrillators. Officers also receive sensitivity training to sharpen the skills needed to work within Temple's diverse campus community.

Temple Police also utilize an integrated Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) system directly linked to the Philadelphia Police Communication Center's CAD system. This technology allows Campus Safety Services operators to view real-time information and dispatch personnel. Each dispatcher has a bank of monitors, which gives them the ability to oversee all systems from their station. Campus Safety Services dispatchers may monitor Philadelphia Police activity in the area of university campuses and property within the City of Philadelphia through the interface with the Philadelphia Police CAD.

In addition to police services, Campus Safety Services also has a Security Division that includes over 65 Temple security officers and 250 full-time equivalent security officers from Allied Barton Security Services, a contract security company. Of this total, approximately 50 security officers are assigned to maintain security in on-campus student housing facilities.

Monitoring Criminal Activity at Off-Campus Locations

When a Temple student is involved in an off-campus offense, police officers may assist with the investigation in cooperation with local, state or federal law enforcement. Philadelphia police routinely work and communicate with Temple Police on any serious incidents occurring on-campus or in the immediate neighborhood and business areas surrounding campus. Temple University operates no off-campus housing or off-campus student organization facilities.

Procedures to Report Criminal Actions or Other Emergencies Occurring on Campus

Temple students, faculty, staff and visitors are encouraged to promptly and accurately report all criminal actions and other emergencies occurring on campus to Temple Police or local law enforcement. Crimes or incidents occurring on Main Campus, Health Sciences, Center City, Podiatry and Ambler campuses may be reported to Temple Police by dialing 1-1234 (from a campus phone) or (215) 204-1234 (from a non-campus phone) or (215) 204-2357 (from a TTY phone).

Crimes and incidents occurring at other campuses or off-campus should be reported to local law enforcement at 9-1-1.

All reports of crimes, emergencies and other serious incidents made to Temple Police are promptly responded to and documented by a Temple Police officer or detective. To ensure that a record is made of each reported crime, telephone requests for service are electronically recorded. Additionally, a journal entry is made for each request. Temple Police and security officers record detailed facts of crimes and incidents on a standardized police report that is used throughout Campus Safety Services.

Confidential Reporting

If you are the victim of a crime and do not want to pursue action through the university's disciplinary system or the criminal justice system, you may still want to consider making a confidential report. Temple Police can file a report on the details of the incident without revealing your identity. The purpose of a confidential report is to comply with your wish to keep the matter confidential, while taking steps to ensure the future safety of yourself and others. This allows the university to keep an accurate record of the number of incidents involving students, determine crime patterns in a particular area and alert the campus community of potential danger. Reports filed in this manner are counted in the annual crime statistics for the university.

Confidential reports of crime may be made by calling (215) 204-6493 (available 24 hours) or by e-mail at police@temple.edu.

Timely Warnings

Temple University, in a manner that is timely and will aid in the prevention of similar crimes, will report to the campus community certain crimes occurring in the designated reporting areas required by Clery: (1) on campus (2) on public property within or immediately adjacent to the campus and (3) in or on non-campus buildings or property that our institution owns or controls. Timely warnings will be issued for all Clery required crimes including criminal homicide, sex offenses, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, motor vehicle theft, arson, liquor and drug law violations, illegal weapons possession and hate crimes reported to Temple Police or local police agencies that are considered by university officials to represent a serious or continuing threat to students and employees.

The following methods may be used to communicate a timely warning: an e-mail to students, faculty and staff; a posting in campus buildings and/or a posting on the Campus Safety Services web site at www.temple.edu/safety. If there is an immediate threat to the health or safety of students and employees occurring on campus, Temple will follow its emergency notification procedures described below, which will serve as a timely warning.

Effective and reliable mass notification has become a fundamental aspect of university security. In the event of an actual emergency, Temple students and employees will be notified through text messaging, e-mail and/or phone calls. Students should take responsibility for regularly checking their university e-mail accounts. Students who wish to have an emergency notification sent directly to their cell phones should register at <http://www.temple.edu/safety/tuready/alert.html>.

Disclosure of Disciplinary Proceedings

Temple University will disclose to the alleged victim of a crime of violence, or a non-forcible sex offense, the final results of any disciplinary hearing conducted by the university against a student who is the alleged perpetrator of the crime or offense. If the alleged victim is deceased as a result of the crime or offense, the university will provide the results of the disciplinary hearing to the victim's next of kin, if so requested. Crimes of violence include, but are not limited to, crimes such as forcible rape and aggravated assault.

Emergency Response and Evacuation Procedures

Temple University recognizes its responsibility to provide accurate and timely information to the campus community during emergencies. Our Emergency Communications Policy establishes the approval process, criteria and method for communicating with students, faculty and staff in the event of a campus emergency.

Reporting an Emergency

In the event of an emergency occurring on the Main, Health Sciences, Center City, Podiatry and Ambler campuses, Temple students, faculty, staff and visitors may contact Temple Police by dialing 1-1234 (from a campus phone) or (215) 204-1234 (from a non-campus phone) or (215) 204-2357 (from a TTY phone).

Emergencies occurring at other campuses or off-campus should be reported to local law enforcement at 9-1-1.

Temple University also has Code Blue Emergency phones. There are approximately 90 phones spread throughout the various Temple University campuses. In case of an emergency, press the red button; this will activate the system causing bright blue strobe flashes and a call will go directly to the Temple Police.

Designated first aid responders include the following individuals: Temple police officers, security personnel, fire marshals and Temple University Emergency Medical Services.

Procedures to Notify the Campus Community

Upon confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students and employees on campus, or a significant interruption in university operations, the President, the Executive Vice President, the President's Chief of Staff, the Executive Director of Campus Safety and/or their designees will determine the type of notification and content to be sent to the Temple community, or to the appropriate segment of the community if the threat is limited to a particular area. Temple University will, without delay, and taking into account the safety of the community, determine the content of the notification and initiate the notification system, unless doing so will, in the professional judgment of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to or otherwise mitigate the emergency.

Emergency Notification

Temple University has various systems in place for communicating information to students, faculty and staff. Some or all of the following methods may be activated in the event of an immediate threat on a Temple campus: text messaging, e-mail and/or phone call.

A TU Advisory serves as a timely warning and will be used to communicate information regarding an incident that occurs on or around campus that is deemed significant, yet does not warrant immediate action. Messages about criminal activity generally will not trigger a TU Advisory unless it is determined that there is an immediate threat to the health or safety of students and employees. There are, however, limited instances when university officials may deem it appropriate to send a TU Advisory to students and employees regarding criminal activity on or around campus that does not involve an immediate threat. The message will be in the form of an e-mail. All e-mails to students, faculty and staff will be sent to their Temple accounts.

A TU Alert will be used to communicate information regarding an incident that occurs on campus and is deemed an emergency requiring immediate action on the part of the campus community. This is a text message to cell phones, an e-mail and/or a phone call. Students, faculty and staff must register their cell phone numbers to receive TU Alert text messages and/or voice mail. More information regarding Temple University's emergency response and evacuation procedures, and directions on how to register for TU Alert, can be found online: www.temple.edu/tuready.

The TU Siren will be used only to communicate information regarding an incident that occurs on campus that is deemed a catastrophic and life-threatening situation (e.g., severe weather or release of hazardous material). The siren will indicate the need for all to shelter-in-place, unless otherwise directed.

Dissemination of Emergency Information

To communicate information to the larger community, Temple University's home page (www.temple.edu) will be updated to display important information about significant emergencies or dangerous situations involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of the campus community. The Temple Hotline (215) 204-1975, is also activated during an emergency for those needing to call in for recorded updates on the situation. Once there is no longer a threat to the campus community, a message will be sent to resume operations as usual. Both the home page and the hotline will be updated.

General Evacuation Procedure

An evacuation is implemented under conditions when it is no longer safe for students, faculty and staff to remain in a building or a specific area in a building. This requires occupants to move out and away from a building to a designated rallying point or out and away from a specific area within a building. It is most commonly used when there is a suspected fire or hazardous material spill in a building.

When the fire alarm sounds, leave at once. Close all doors behind you. Proceed into the fire exit and leave the building. After leaving the building, keep moving for at least 200 feet and proceed to the designated rallying point. Do not reenter until given permission by Temple Police or the Fire Department. Do not use elevators. Feel closed doors as you go; if it is hot or smoke is seeping in, do not open it. If the door feels cool, open cautiously. Be prepared to slam it shut if the corridor is full of smoke or if you feel heat pressure against door. If corridor is clear, proceed with the escape plan. Persons needing assistance should get to the nearest stairwell or fire exit and call 9-1-1 with details of your location while waiting for further assistance.

If you become trapped and cannot reach the fire exit, keep the door closed and seal off any cracks. Call the Fire Department by dialing (215) 204-1234 or 9-1-1 and give the location of your building, the floor you are on and a contact number.

Shelter-in-Place Procedure

Shelter-in-place means to seek immediate shelter and remain there during an emergency rather than evacuate the area. Shelter-in-place will only be used when an evacuation is not safe. Certain events, such as hazardous materials contamination or severe weather, may necessitate the initiation of Temple University's shelter-in-place protocol. Notification to shelter-in-place may be made using all means of communication available. In the event that the TU Siren is activated, a TU Alert will be sent and the Temple home page will be updated.

In the event that the shelter-in-place protocol is initiated, it is recommended that you:

- Move to rooms with no windows that can open or are open. Rooms that have little or no outside ventilation are preferred.
- Close any open windows and doors.
- Only come out when you are told that it is safe. The university will send an “all clear” message.

For more information regarding emergency response procedures, as well as a Main Campus rallying point map, visit <http://www.temple.edu/tuready>.

Testing

On at least an annual basis, Temple University will conduct tests of its emergency response and evacuation procedures. During the tests, students and employees learn the locations of the emergency exits in the buildings, the direction they should travel when exiting each facility and their designated rallying points.

The tests may be announced or unannounced. In conjunction with at least one test per calendar year, the university will publicize its emergency response and evacuation procedures. The Office of the Fire Marshal and the Temple Police are responsible for coordinating the tests. For each specific test, the university will document a description of the exercise, the date, the time and whether the test was announced or unannounced.

Officer Alston stands alert and ready to respond to any situation.

Campus Security Features

The Department of Campus Safety Services works in conjunction with the Office of Facilities Management to ensure the security of university facilities. Generally, police personnel submit written reports outlining any lighting or safety hazards that they observe. These reports are submitted to the Office of Facilities Management for resolution. Some safety features include:

- Maintaining light on campus to deter crime. Temple University's campuses have over 1,000 lights mounted on building rooftops. The 1,000-watt metal halide bulbs create a bright white illumination that mimics daylight at ground level.
- Ensuring shrubbery is appropriately located and maintained so that all areas are illuminated properly and safety hazards are corrected.
- Providing shuttle services for convenient transport in and around campus. Shuttle services are in service from 5:30 PM – 6:00 AM daily during the semester. These services include:
 - ❖ OWLoop: The OWLoop is available on a continuous route and makes stops at designated locations through the Main Campus, including residence hall buildings.
 - ❖ TUr Door: The TUr Door provides direct service to your home within a set geographical area on Main Campus: from 5th Street to 20th Street, and from Girard Avenue to Cumberland Street. Buses depart from the transportation hub (located at 12th and Berks streets) at least every half hour. All travelers must board at the transportation hub.

All individuals boarding the shuttle must present a valid Temple ID to use the service. More information regarding shuttle services is available at the Office of Facilities Management web site: www.temple.edu/facilities/shuttles.html.

- Maintaining Code Blue Emergency Phones. There are approximately 90 outdoor emergency phones strategically located on campus walkways, near on-campus student housing facilities and university buildings and at or near parking areas. These communication devices are highly visible and provide a fully self-contained emergency communication device for anyone in urgent need of assistance.
- Maintaining closed circuit television cameras. Temple University has more than 800 cameras installed on Main Campus with images streaming to a central server authorized by Campus Safety Services. Campus cameras include both internal and external uses, with low-level and rooftop perspectives. Temple policy provides guidelines for the approval, installation, use and standard maintenance of cameras or video imaging systems which are intended to aid and enhance the security of the university community. Temple University permits the use of Video Imaging Systems and access to the resulting images captured only when approved by the department of Campus Safety Services or the pertinent senior university officer.

Bike Registration

Students, faculty and staff are strongly encouraged to register their bicycles with Temple Police at the beginning of each semester. Registration is free and serves as a deterrent to theft. The serial number of the bike is recorded in a database and a Temple Police sticker is issued to be placed on the bicycle. More than 700 bikes are registered annually.

Campus Patrols

Temple Police officers have a high level of visibility on campus, which helps create a strong connection with the community. Linked through the state-of-the-art communication center, officers patrol campuses 24 hours a day—on foot, in cars, on electronic mobile vehicles and on bicycles.

Security officers are also stationed at three stationary kiosks at key locations around campus.

Parking

Temple University currently maintains three garages and 14 surface parking lots that are well-lit and provide nearly 5,215 spaces on three campuses. Most areas are staffed by parking attendants and are periodically patrolled by Temple Police. To increase personal safety, everyone is encouraged to use on campus parking garages and lots. For more information contact the Office of Parking Services at <http://www.temple.edu/parking/>.

Allied Security Officer Brown describes campus safety features, such as code blue emergency phones (pictured), to students.

Safety Awareness and Crime Prevention Programming

The Department of Campus Safety Services offers a wide variety of safety awareness programs designed to inform students and employees about security procedures and encourage the university community to be responsible for their safety. Orientations are offered continuously throughout the year, though many student sessions occur in August.

NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION

Each semester the Campus Safety Services department conducts informational sessions to familiarize new students with the department, available services, reporting procedures and university policies. The presentation also includes risk reduction strategies and role-playing exercises focused towards managing the transition to the college experience and urban living.

NEW HIRE ORIENTATION

In conjunction with the Human Resources Department, the Campus Safety Services department offers presentations and conducts orientations on a continual basis for faculty and staff. The topics include an overview of the department, services and programs, safe commuting, street smarts and reporting procedures.

LISTENING CIRCLES

Campus Safety Services is dedicated to serving the Temple community and welcomes the opportunity to meet with students, administrators, faculty and staff to discuss safety concerns and suggestions to enhance our services.

RESIDENCE HALL PROGRAMMING

Annually, members from the Department of Campus Safety Services and administrators from University Housing facilitate training for the live-in residential life staff. In addition, at the start of each semester, Resident Assistants (RAs) conduct floor meetings with students to discuss such issues as general safety awareness, acquaintance rape, the importance of reporting suspicious activity, safety hazards and the location of fire exits. Throughout the semester, many programs are sponsored by RAs and tailored to address the specific needs of their residents.

OUTREACH SERVICES

In the fall semester of each year, Campus Safety Services collaborates with other departments to coordinate outreach initiatives, such as:

- Neighborhood BBQ
This event provides an opportunity for our students living in the surrounding area to meet their neighbors and promote "Good Neighbor" relations throughout the year.
- Welcome Wagons
Students, faculty and staff go door-to-door to meet with students living in the neighborhoods adjacent to Main Campus distributing household necessities and discussing tips for positive community living (i.e., local ordinances and civic responsibility).

of Programs	Program Type	Participants
33	Student Orientations	5,225 Students
27	Employee Orientations	745 Employees
5	Listening Circles	83 Attendees
8	Residence Hall	112 Attendees
5	Outreach Services	1,151 Attendees

Temple Police utilize brochures, pamphlets, announcements and other printed materials to promote crime prevention. Many programs and initiatives are organized throughout the year and focus on risk reduction strategies and increasing personal awareness in a variety of settings. These activities include:

- residence hall awareness
- resources fairs
- self defense workshops
- unattended property campaign

Some specific programs are:

COFFEE WITH THE COPS

Coffee with the Cops provides informal interaction between our department, students and employees at various campus locations. While receiving information about maintaining a safe environment, guests can share a cup of coffee and assorted pastries with our team.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

University administrators tour the on-campus student housing facilities, knock on students' doors and engage in informal discussions about strategies to maintain their personal safety on campus and in the community. The program occurs annually in September. The Opportunity Knocks program is a collaborative effort co-sponsored by Campus Safety Services and various university departments.

SELF DEFENSE WORKSHOPS

Rape-Aggression-Defense (RAD) is a nationally recognized comprehensive program focused on awareness, prevention, risk reduction and risk avoidance. Upon request, one of our certified instructors will provide basic information and a hands-on demonstration.

In addition, students can enroll in a two-credit course through the Department of Kinesiology.

of Programs	Program Type	Participants
4	Coffee with the Cops	668 Attendees
15	Self Defense Programs	512 Attendees
10	Opportunity Knocks	2,743 Attendees

For more information or to arrange a program, please contact Special Services Coordinator Donna Gray at (215) 204-5870 or donna.gray@temple.edu.

Safety Policies for On-Campus Student Housing Facilities

ACCESS

All Temple University managed residence hall facilities have security officers stationed at or near the entrance of facilities in order to regulate access. Only students assigned to a building may enter a residence without being signed in as a "guest." In most halls, residents gain entry by presenting a specially programmed Owlcard to the security officer on duty. All residents are required to have their ID cards available for presentation when they enter a building.

GUEST POLICY

A resident is permitted to have up to three guests in the residence hall facilities at any one time. Guests are individuals who come to a residence hall to visit a specific resident. The resident must present his or her guest card to the security officer on duty at the entrance.

The security officer registers each guest as they enter the building. Guests must present valid identification, such as a driver's license or college ID. The security officer holds the identification and the resident's guest card, and both are returned when the guest(s) leaves the building. The resident has a responsibility to escort the guest(s) at all times while they are in the residence hall. Also, the resident should ensure that each guest adheres to all University Housing & Residential Life's (UH&RL) community living standards, rules and regulations as outlined at www.temple.edu/housing in the Rights, Responsibilities and Resource Guide, as well as all local, state and federal laws.

Guests who arrive unaccompanied by a resident must arrange to meet the resident at the entrance before they will be allowed to enter the facility. Telephones for calling resident hosts are provided at the entrance of each residence hall. The resident must come to the security desk, verify that the person is his or her guest and sign in the guest. Each time the guest(s) enters or leaves the building, he or she must be signed in and signed out.

Temple Security Officer Coverington welcomes a student and provides information as she enters Alter Hall.

Access to Campus Facilities

There are more than 178 buildings at Temple University. Access to open buildings, events and programs is granted to all students and employees with a Temple identification card. Every student is expected to carry his or her identification card at all times. Upon request of an officer of the university, the student must show the identification card. Visitors can be granted access for specific activities by presenting picture identification.

SECURITY PRECAUTIONS

Each resident is issued a key/keycard that opens his or her room only. If a key/keycard is lost, a lock change is ordered and a new key/keycard is issued. In addition, all residence hall windows have locks and security access screens have been placed on the lower floor windows of most on-campus student housing facilities.

UNIVERSITY BREAK PERIODS

Most residence halls are closed and locked during official vacations and break periods. During these periods, residents are encouraged to take all valuables with them.

Missing Student Notification

Temple University encourages all students to identify an emergency contact through TUPortal (tuportal.temple.edu), under the Student Tools tab. Students who reside in on-campus housing at either the Main Campus or at the School of Podiatry have the additional option of identifying a confidential missing person contact in the event that the student is determined to be missing. The missing persons contact is distinct from the “emergency contact.” The missing persons contact is registered confidentially, and only authorized campus officials and law enforcement officers in furtherance of a missing person investigation have access to this missing person contact information.

If a member of the Temple community has reason to believe that a student residing in on-campus housing, either at the Main Campus or at the School of Podiatry, is missing, the individual should immediately report it to Temple Police at (215) 204-1234, or at 1-1234 from a campus phone, or from any of the code blue emergency telephones on or around campus. Anyone receiving a missing student report should immediately forward the information to Temple Police.

If Temple Police determine that a student is missing, Temple Police will notify the Philadelphia Police Department or other local law enforcement, regardless of whether the student has identified a confidential missing person contact.

Temple Police will also notify the Director of University Housing and Residential Life or his or her designee. The Director of University Housing and Residential Life will notify the student’s designated contact within 24 hours after the determination that the student is missing. If the missing student is less than 18 years of age and is not emancipated, the Director of University Housing and Residential Life will immediately notify the student’s parent or guardian in addition to his or her designated contact.

Drug and Alcohol Use

Temple University strictly prohibits the unlawful possession, use, consumption, distribution or manufacture of drugs and alcohol on university property, or as part of any university activity. A violation of this policy will subject the student to the range of sanctions, including, but not limited to, expulsion for students and discharge for employees.

The Student Code of Conduct and other university policies contain additional requirements and prohibitions regarding the use of drugs and alcohol (e.g., Athletics, Greek Life, Residential Life). A violation of any of these policies will subject the student to discipline. The Student Code of Conduct states possible penalties for drug- and alcohol-related offenses which include expulsion, suspension, probation, fine, withdrawal of student privileges, letter of reprimand and loss of university housing or privileges.

Additionally, anyone who violates the Drug and Alcohol Use policy will be subject to criminal prosecution under applicable local, state and federal laws. For information regarding state and federal penalties for drug and alcohol offenses, refer to:

www.lcb.state.pa.us/portal/server.pt/community/alcohol__the_law/17511; and www.usdoj.gov/dea/agency/penalties.htm.

It is unlawful to sell, furnish or provide alcohol to a person under the age of 21. The possession of alcohol by anyone under the age of 21 is illegal. The Dean of Students will notify parents/guardians of students under the age of 21 of alcohol/drug violations involving the student. Campus Safety Services will notify parents/guardians of students under the age of 21 upon issuing a citation for an alcohol violation.

Additionally, the possession, use, sale or distribution of any controlled substance is illegal under both state and federal laws. Such laws are strictly enforced by Temple Police. Violators are subject to university disciplinary action, criminal prosecution, fine and imprisonment.

Counseling and Treatment Programs

Students in need of confidential drug or alcohol counseling may access the following resources:

- Health Education Awareness Resource Team (HEART)

HEART is responsible for alcohol and drug use prevention education. The office is staffed by health professionals and peer educators who provide comprehensive wellness education, resources and prevention education to Temple students.

Location: Mitten Hall – Lower Level

Telephone: (215) 204-8436

- Tuttleman Counseling Services

Any Temple University student needing substance abuse counseling can access the Campus Alcohol and Substance Awareness (CASA) program, as well as psychological and psychiatric counseling services, through Tuttleman Counseling Services. The CASA program is staffed by certified addictions counselors and offers individual and group counseling. Educational literature, seminars and workshops are available, as is on-line screening. Counselors will also refer students to mental health resources on campus and in the city that are specific to their needs. There are no fees for any assistance provided by Tuttleman Counseling Services.

Location: 1810 Liacouras Walk – 5th Floor

Telephone: (215) 204-7276

Employees are encouraged to use the university’s counseling services, campus-related self-help groups (e.g., Adult Children of Alcoholics, Alcoholics Anonymous or Narcotics Anonymous), the EAP (Employee Assistance Program) or health insurance plans, as appropriate, when facing alcohol and/or drug-related problems. Employees may contact the Human Resources Benefits Department at (215) 204-1321.

Weapons Policy

Firearms and other dangerous weapons are strictly prohibited in or on university facilities. This prohibition applies to all persons, even those who possess a license to carry such weapons, except for authorized Campus Safety Services and other law enforcement personnel performing official functions. Reported violations will be investigated and violators will be arrested, cited and/or disciplined as appropriate.

Officer Vazquez illustrates that safety is a priority as he executes his duty to serve and protect the Temple community.

Sex Offenses

The university policy on sexual assault aims to achieve an environment at Temple University, which is both free of sexual assaults and consistent with other constitutional protections and personal freedoms. Specifically, the policy provides for:

- Comprehensive education and prevention programs that inform the university community about the risks and myths that contribute to sexual assault;
- Procedures sensitive to victims in responding to reports of alleged sexual assaults, including informing victims of medical, counseling and support services and alternative remedies; and
- Availability of university disciplinary sanctions for those who commit sexual assaults.

Temple University's Sexual Assault Counseling and Education (SACE) program staff provides services including:

- Orientation programs for new students, which provide information about sexual harassment, sexual assault and relationship violence;
- Crisis intervention counseling and referrals; and
- At the request of a student, student organization or administrative department, SACE will provide educational programming tailored to specific needs.

For more information about these programs, contact Tuttleman Counseling Services at (215) 204-7276.

Temple University's Health Education Awareness Resource Team (HEART) program staff provides a variety of services related to sexual violence, including:

- A Social Marketing Campaign: utilizes marketing concepts to promote behaviors instead of products. The seven elements of the model are knowledge, desire, skills, optimism, facilitation, stimulation and reinforcement. Five of HEART's 17 social marketing posters relate to interpersonal violence.
- Say Something @ Temple (SS@T): a bystander intervention program that utilizes students with high social capital to identify high-risk behaviors amongst their friends, intervene and refer.
- Training Sessions: students learn how to recognize high-risk behaviors and other problems/issues regarding alcohol/drug use; sexual health; interpersonal violence and sexual assault; mental health; and body image; how to intervene (Say Something); making appropriate referrals to on-campus resources
- The Clothesline Project: a visual display that bears witness to the violence against women. During the public display, a clothesline is hung with shirts. Each shirt is decorated to represent a particular woman's experience, by the survivor herself or by someone who cares about her. The shirts are color coded to show the form of abuse and whether the victim survived the abuse they experienced. This is coupled with educational programs and information.
- Take Back The Night: held annually, Take Back the Night is a national rally to promote awareness about sexual violence. The Take Back The Night Foundation seeks to end sexual violence in all of its forms, including sexual assault, sexual abuse, dating violence and domestic violence.
- Vagina Monologues: a series of women's monologues acted out by members of the Temple community, based on the book by Eve Ensler. Vagina Monologues occurs every February, and is coordinated through the V-Day Organization. V-Day is a global activist movement to stop violence against women and girls.

Reporting Sexual Assault

Victims of sexual assault should get to a place of safety immediately and should obtain necessary medical treatment at once. Victims should report the incident as soon as possible, since time is a critical factor for evidence collection and preservation.

Victims should report incidents of sexual assault occurring on the Main, Health Sciences, Center City, Podiatry and Ambler campuses to Temple Police by dialing 1-1234 (from a campus phone) or (215) 204-1234 (from a non-campus phone) or (215) 204-2357 (from a TTY phone). Sexual assaults occurring at other campuses or off-campus should be reported to local law enforcement at 9-1-1.

Alternatively, Temple University personnel will assist the student in notifying local authorities and receiving the necessary medical treatments and tests, if the student so requests. Filing a police report provides the opportunity for the collection of evidence and assures the victim access to confidential counseling.

Victims may also file a complaint through Temple University administration. The university's informal and formal procedures for filing a complaint are set out below and are intended to afford a prompt response to charges of sexual assault, to maintain confidentiality and fairness consistent with applicable legal requirements and to impose appropriate sanctions on violators of this policy.

- Informal Complaints

If a person reports to a university administrator, department head or faculty member that she or he has been sexually assaulted but chooses not to file a formal complaint at that time, the complainant will be referred immediately to the SACE Coordinator and promptly notified of available support services on and off campus and alternative remedies. Informal complaints will be treated confidentially, consistent with applicable legal requirements.

- Formal Complaints

Persons wishing to file formal complaints of sexual assault will be directed (and, whenever possible, escorted) to Campus Safety Services, which is responsible for conducting investigation of these complaints. The Philadelphia Police Special Victims Unit will be contacted upon the complainant's request. All formal complaints will be treated confidentially, consistent with applicable legal requirements and customary law enforcement practices. Complainants will be told promptly of available support services, as well as legal and administrative options. Complainants also will be informed about the outcome of any investigation by Campus Safety Services and any disciplinary actions against the accused. In addition, under appropriate circumstances, the university will inform members of the university community of reported sexual assaults.

Disciplinary Proceedings

In appropriate cases, complaints will lead to the initiation of disciplinary procedures. The accuser and the accused are entitled to the same opportunities to have others present during a disciplinary hearing. Both the accuser and the accused will be informed of the final outcome of any institutional disciplinary hearing that is brought alleging a sex offense.

University sanctions, up to and including separation from the university, will be imposed upon those determined to have perpetrated a sex offense. For students, sexual assault is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct, subjecting a perpetrator to disciplinary sanctions up to and including expulsion from the university. Sexual assault is a criminal act, which also subjects the perpetrator to criminal and civil penalties under federal and state law.

Assistance for Victims

Campus Safety Services, including its Special Services Manager, will work cooperatively with the university's SACE coordinator and other university offices to ensure that the victim's health, physical safety and academic status are protected pending the outcome of a formal investigation of the complaint.

Additionally, the SACE coordinator is responsible for coordinating assistance and support for persons who report having been sexually assaulted, including matters relating to the person's physical and mental health, personal safety and academic status. The SACE program staff coordinates service with health care, crisis intervention and systems advocacy within the Temple University community. Individual and group counseling is available. Groups are offered on occasion for rape survivors, survivors of child sexual abuse, anger management, domestic violence and co-victims. More information is available through Tuttleman Counseling Services at (215) 204-7276 or <http://www.temple.edu/studentaffairs/counseling/>.

Student victims also have the option of changing their academic course schedule and/or on-campus living situations after an alleged sexual assault, when such changes are reasonably available.

Sex Offenders Inquiries Policy

Information regarding registered sex offenders in the campus community can be obtained by accessing www.pameganslaw.state.pa.us. Information about sexually violent predators is also accessible at this website.

In the Communication Center, Lt. Harvey and dispatchers provide assistance by answering calls, monitoring activity around the Temple campus and coordinating emergency response.

FIRE SAFETY

Fire Safety Features in On-Campus Student Housing Facilities

The on-campus student housing facilities at Temple University have a variety of fire safety features, as indicated below. Most halls have automatic sprinkler systems, building alarm systems (which Temple Police monitor), fire extinguishers and fire rated doors.

In addition to the foregoing safety features, fire drills are conducted in each of these buildings four times per year to ensure that students are aware of procedures to follow in the event of an actual fire.

Prohibited Items

To prevent fire or spread of fire, the following items are prohibited in the residential halls:

- Candles
- Ceiling tapestries
- Portable heaters
- Halogen lamps
- Hot plates
- Live Christmas trees
- Extension cords
- Heat generating appliances

Smoking

Temple is a smoke-free university. All university facilities are designated as non-smoking, and smoking is also prohibited within 25 feet of a main entrance, exit or operable window of a university building. In addition, all indoor university-sponsored activities taking place in facilities not owned or operated by Temple University will be smoke-free in those areas under the university's control.

For all Temple students, smoking in university facilities is a violation of the Student Conduct Code. Violation of the policy on smoking will be handled in the same way as other violations of the code. Violations of this policy by residential students in university housing facilities will be addressed by the residence life staff.

For university employees, this policy will be enforced in accordance with rules and regulations in the Employee Manual.

Procedures for Evacuating Student Housing in Case of Fire

All on-campus student housing facilities must fully evacuate upon activation of the fire alarm.

1. If you discover a fire or smell smoke, sound the building fire alarm. Know the location of the alarm signal stations and how they operate. The security officer stationed in the lobby will call Temple Police when an alarm is transmitted. Temple Police will notify the Fire Department without delay by dialing 9-1-1.
2. When the fire alarm sounds, leave at once. Close all doors behind you. Proceed to the nearest fire exit and remain there until you are given instructions by the Fire Department or Temple Police. Fire exits are safe areas of refuge, since they are enclosed with doors and walls that are fire-rated to keep smoke and heat from entering the stairs.
3. Do not use the elevators. They will stop if power fails, causing occupants to become trapped. Elevator shafts are like chimneys. Smoke could enter the elevator shaft thereby asphyxiating the occupants trying to evacuate the building. Use the stairs.
4. Feel the door that leads from your room to the corridor before opening it. If it is hot or smoke is seeping in, do not open it. If you become trapped in your room and cannot reach the fire exit, keep the door closed and seal off any cracks. Use a phone to call the Fire Department by dialing 9-1-1- or (215) 204-1234 and give your specific location including the floor and room number.
5. If the door feels cool, open cautiously. Be braced to slam it shut if corridor is full of smoke or if you feel heat pressure against door. If the corridor is clear, proceed with the escape plan.
6. After leaving the building, keep moving for at least 200 feet and proceed to the designated rallying point. Do not reenter until given permission by Temple Police or the Fire Department.

7. People with Mobility Limitations: Responsible person or persons should be designated to assist students and employees in the event of fire. Persons needing assistance to exit a building should be taken into the fire exit and remain on the landing. Once situated on the stairwell landing, call Temple Police at (215) 204-1234 or the Philadelphia Fire Department at 9-1-1. Identify which stairwell you are in and on which floor you are located. Be sure to indicate if you require special equipment to descend the stairs. The Fire Department should arrive in minutes to assist.
8. If caught in smoke or heat, stay low where air is better. Take short breaths through the nose until you reach an area of refuge.
9. Keep all fire exit and corridor doors closed at all times. These doors are fire-rated to keep smoke and heat from entering stairways and adjoining corridors. If at any time you observe these doors propped or tied open, please close them and report the location to the university fire marshal, (215) 204-7938.

Fire Safety Education

Fire prevention, evacuation and fire extinguisher training are provided for all Resident Directors, Resident Assistants and other residence hall staff.

If a fire occurs, students are instructed to leave hazardous areas using the established evacuation routes and get to a predetermined rallying point before calling 9-1-1 for help. They are to remain at the rallying point so that the director of Student Housing or someone from the Student Housing office has documented that the student has left the building. RAs are instructed to pull the fire alarm as they are leaving the building if they can do so without risking their safety.

Additionally, Temple Police and security officers are designated by the university and trained to assist in safe and orderly emergency evacuation for all types of emergency situations. These employees will help direct all employees and students during emergency evacuation, serve as a resource of information about emergency procedures and conduct head counts once evacuation has been completed.

Reporting a Fire “After the Fact” for Statistical Purposes

Temple University is required under federal law to annually disclose statistical data on all fires that occur in on-campus student housing facilities. Listed below are the non-emergency numbers to call to report fires that have already been extinguished in on-campus student housing.

Future Improvements in Fire Safety

The Temple University Fire Prevention Plan (FPP) applies to all operations in the university where employees and students may encounter a fire. This FPP is in place at the university to control and reduce the possibility of fire and to specify the type of equipment to use in case of fire.

Under this plan, employees and students will be informed of the plan’s purpose, preferred means of reporting fires and other emergencies, types of evacuations to be used in various emergency situations and the alarm systems. The FPP communicates to employees and students policies and procedures to follow when fires erupt. This written plan is available, upon request, to employees and students, their designated representatives and any Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) officials who ask to see it. The written program is kept in the Fire Marshal’s Office. The plan is periodically reviewed and updated. Copies of this plan may be obtained from the Fire Marshal’s Office and the Workers’ Compensation Manager.

Temple University is committed to the success of the FPP, striving for clear understanding, safe behavior and involvement in the program for everyone. All suggestions and improvements to the plan are welcome. Please address any comments to University Fire Marshal John Higgins at (215) 204-8687.

CRIME RATES AND STATISTICS

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (20 USC § 1092(f)) is a federal law that requires colleges and universities to disclose information about crime on and around our campuses. The following pages provide crime rates and statistics for each of Temple's campuses for the 2010, 2009 and 2008 calendar years as required by federal law.

The Clery Act requires that the following "Clery crimes" be reported:

- Murders
- Robberies
- Burglaries
- Forcible Sex Offenses
- Liquor Law Violations
- Weapons Possessions
- Manslaughters
- Aggravated Assaults
- Motor Vehicle Thefts
- Non-Forcible Sex Offenses
- Drug Abuse Violations
- Hate Crimes

These crimes are sorted by year and location of occurrence. Note: Crimes reported in the "On-Campus Student Housing" columns are also accounted for in the "On-Campus" column.

Information on reported hate crimes for each campus is also provided. This information includes the year of the incident, the type of offense, where the incident occurred on campus and the type of discrimination involved. Note: The type of discrimination was not reported prior to 2009.

In addition, The Pennsylvania Uniform Crime Reporting Act, mandates the release of crime statistics and rates to matriculated students and employees, and, upon request, to new employees and applicants for admission. The index rate is calculated by multiplying the actual number of reported offenses by 100,000 (a theoretical population for comparison purposes) and dividing that product by the number of the University's Full Time Equivalent (FTE) students and employees. The FTE is calculated using a state required formula.

Note: These figures do not include the large number of people who visit our campuses every day. If the number of campus visitors were included, the actual rates would be substantially lower.
