Erik Petersen '06

Hometown: Medford, Ore.

Transfer School: Longwood Gardens Professional Gardener Training Program

Commuter or Resident: Commuter (from Frazer, Pa.)

Major: Horticulture

Why Temple University Ambler?

I received 55 transfer credits that counted toward my degree, which is really remarkable considering Longwood is a private botanic garden with its own in-house training programs.

What are your plans for the future?

I've returned to Oregon and I'm currently working at Terranova Nurseries. Ultimately I'd like to bring new and exciting plants to the industry through breeding work and one day own my own nursery.

What are your favorite local places?

KC's Alley, Colibraro's Nursery, the Ambler Theater, and the Ambler Coffee Company.

What was your greatest challenge?

When I was a part-time student, it was challenging to establish good relationships as well as participate in my department's daytime activities.

What advice would you give to future students planning to transfer?

Talk to students in your major and ask them direct questions about the classes, instructors, curriculum, and projects that are offered. This is an excellent way to gain first-hand knowledge about the school.

Sarada Jailal, Junior

Hometown: Tobyhanna, Pa.

Transfer School: Northampton Community College

Commuter or Resident: Commuter

Major: Journalism and Communications

Why Temple University Ambler?

The small, quiet atmosphere reminded me of home.

What are your plans for the future?

I want to get my degree and graduate with high honors. I hope to work in the public relations field at a college or university.

What are your favorite local places?

I am really enjoying my apartment and getting together with friends to watch movies or just hang out.

What was your greatest challenge?

Moving to a new place, not knowing anyone, and getting used to a bigger campus. I decided to live on campus and quickly made friends in the residence halls, in my classes, and at my job on campus, which made the transition easy. I moved off campus to an apartment in Ambler and I absolutely love it!
