

IRISH MEMORIAL RESEARCH

PAULINE HURLEY –KURTZ, MLA, RLA, ASLA, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

In recognition of the 150th anniversary of Ireland's Great Hunger 1845-1853, a number of memorials have been created in Ireland, Great Britain, the United States, Canada and Australia. My work as design landscape architect for the Irish Memorial in Philadelphia dedicated in 2003, inspired me to research and visit many of the Irish Great Hunger Memorials around the world. I am researching the process followed in creating each memorial; collecting material on the design and interviewing the various groups involved.

Credits: Pauline Hurley - Kurtz

ASLA NATIONAL CONFERENCE, PHILADELPHIA, PA- OCTOBER 3, 2008

Landscape Architecture Faculty Work

Temple University Department of Landscape Architecture & Horticulture, Ambler College