

CANDIAN BRASS GUEST ARTISTS WITH TEMPLE UNIVERSITY WIND SYMPHONY

Referred to as “the men who put brass music on the map” by the Washington Post, Chuck Daellenbach (tuba), Christopher Coletti and Brandon Ridenour (trumpets), Keith Dyrda (trombone) and Eric Reed (horn), known as Canadian Brass, will perform as guests artists with the Temple University Wind Symphony on April 26, 2011 at 7:30 pm at the Temple Performing Arts Center.

They will perform works by Tovey, Bernstein and Wright. The Temple University Wind Symphony, under the direction of Arthur D. Chodoroff, will perform works by Shostakovich, Jacob and Nelson.

“We are looking forward to having the members of the Canadian Brass as guest artists with the Temple University Wind Symphony,” said Arthur D. Chodoroff, Director of Bands and Professor of Instrumental Music .

“ Since all of the students in the Wind Symphony are preparing for careers in music, the opportunity to rehearse and perform with five of the most highly recognized and successful brass players in the world will provide a unique experience.”

Formed in 1970, the varied Canadian Brass repertoire features brass standards as well as a wide-ranging library of original arrangements created especially for them, including works of Renaissance and Baroque masters, marches, holiday favorites, ragtime, Dixieland, Latin, jazz, big band, Broadway and Christian music as well as popular songs and standards. Members have transcribed, arranged and commissioned more than 200 works.

With a discography of over 90 albums and an extensive world-wide touring schedule, Canadian Brass is an important pioneer in bringing brass music to mass audiences everywhere. They have sold well over 2 million albums worldwide and continue to score Billboard chart positions — most recently with their recording of patriotic songs and marches, Stars & Stripes: Canadian Brass Salute America, which spent 8 weeks in the Top 25 on the 2010 Billboard Classical Chart .

Temple Performing Arts Center, SE Corner North Broad Street and Polett Walk

Free admission. Limited availability. Advanced reservation strongly recommended at

<http://canadianbrass.eventbrite.com> or 215.204.2184