

DR. ROLLO DILWORTH JOINS FACULTY AT BOYER COLLEGE OF MUSIC AND DANCE

Dr. Rollo Dilworth has been appointed associate professor of choral music education at the Boyer College of Music and Dance. Dr. Dilworth comes to Boyer from North Park University in Chicago where he was associate professor of music and director of choral activities and music education.

“We are pleased that Dr. Dilworth will be joining the Boyer faculty,” said Dr. Robert T. Stroker, dean of the college. “His distinguished career in choral music education exemplifies the level of excellence to which our students achieve.”

Dr. Dilworth is a preeminent scholar in the field of choral music education, having written over 70 choral compositions, many of which have been commissioned by leading choral organizations, authored numerous articles and textbook chapters and conducted performances with school choirs, all-state honors choirs and at educational conferences in the US, Australia, Korea and British Columbia. Dr. Dilworth is also an active choral clinician and has been recognized by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers; Schirmer Publishing and the National Association of Negro Musicians.
