Temple University Opera Theater Wins 3rd National Opera Award (NOA)

Temple University Opera Theater was awarded first place for their Spring 2006 production of Verdi's Falstaff by the National Opera Association. Presented at the NOA Gala Banquet in New York on January 7, 2007, the award is the third first-place ranking for Temple in the last four years. Temple University Opera Theater has also won awards for the 2003 production of Hansel and Gretel and the 2004 production of L'amico Fritz. Entries for the National Opera Association awards are received from across the country and the judging is done without knowledge of the producing institution.
