

Boyer Student Selected for TUTV Composition Competition

May 21, 2010 -- Philadelphia, PA

Jordan Ryan, a sophomore studying jazz piano and composition at the Boyer College of Music and Dance, was selected as the winning composer of a musical, signature package for TUTV, Temple's new cable television station. The channel and its website are expected to debut in the fall.

Jordan's compositions will be heard throughout the broadcast day. His music will introduce news, entertainment and sports programs. It will also be heard during station promotions.

The competition was open to composition and jazz composition students and was sponsored by TUTV and the Boyer college. Jordan's entry, on which he played all the instruments, was selected from an impressive pool of applicants.
