

FALL 2008 CRIMINAL JUSTICE MONDAY NIGHT FILM SERIES

The Department of Criminal Justice is pleased to present the Fall 2008 Monday Night Film Series.

This semester, every Monday evening, the Department of Criminal Justice will be hosting a screening of crime and criminal justice -themed movies in Tuttleman 105, free and open to the entire Temple University community. All films are shown uncut and without interruption. Selections include contemporary and classic films examining issues relating to crime and justice in such varied settings as Colombia, Los Angeles, Chicago, New Zealand, and the United Kingdom. After each film there will be some time for discussion. All are worth seeing. Please join us!

Each week's film will be announced in the Temple Today email and in flyers posted around campus.

FILM SCHEDULE Films begin at 7:15 pm, unless otherwise noted ()*

September 8:* American Gangster (2007, Ridley Scott) (7:00 pm)

September 15: Idiocracy (2006, Mike Judge)

September 22: Maria Full of Grace (2003, Joshua Marston)

September 29: One Day in September (1999, Kevin McDonald)

October 6:* A Clockwork Orange (1971, Stanley Kubrick) (7:00 pm)

October 13: Trainspotting (1996, Danny Boyle)

October 20: Wonderland (2003, James Cox)

October 27: Heavenly Creatures (Peter Jackson, 1994)

November 3: Race to Execution (2007, Rachel Lyon)

November 10: Alpha Dog (2006, Nick Cassavettes)

November 17 Scotland, PA (2001, Billy Morrisette)

November 24: American History X (1998, Tony Kaye)

December 1: Reservoir Dogs (1992, Quentin Tarantino)

December 8: THX 1138 (1971, George Lucas)

Contact: email auerhahn@temple.edu with any questions.