FROM THE COURSE DIRECTOR

Seasonal Law Enforcement Training Program

Temple University
Department of Criminal Justice
523 Gladfelter Hall
1115 West Berks Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19122

Dear Prospective Applicant:

Thank you for your recent inquiry concerning Temple University's Seasonal Law Enforcement Training Program (SLETP). Our summer class is scheduled to begin on May 21, 2012, and our fall class is scheduled to start on August 27, 2012. These are the next available courses for which we expect to have openings. Training will be conducted at the Ambler Campus of Temple University. Our campus is located off the Fort Washington exit of the Pennsylvania Turnpike. You may download a map from the University website at www.temple.edu/maps.

Reflecting the characteristics of the profession, this program is academically rigorous and is physically demanding. You must pass all academic examinations and practical skills evaluations in order to graduate. The program is likely not appropriate if you have experienced difficulty in formal schooling in the past, and/or do not feel that you are presently able to perform well in demanding physical activity.

Classes will be held Monday through Friday from approximately 7:45 AM to 5:00 PM, and sometimes until 7:00 PM. Because of the special facilities and activities required by this program, classes may begin earlier or end later on some days, and training is sometimes conducted on Saturdays. Students are required to attend all classes.

We intend to admit up to 26 candidates per class. Those being sponsored by the National Park Service will have priority. Basic eligibility requirements for all candidates include: minimum eighteen (18) years of age, minimum of sixty (60) college credits successfully completed by start of the program (prior military service with honorable discharge may be substituted), current valid driver's license, and no disqualifying criminal record. Applicants who fail to meet these basic eligibility criteria will not be admitted to the program.

Once we have received and evaluated your application, you may be invited to proceed to the next phase. Once we have received a reasonable number of applicants, a waiting list will be created. Applicants placed on the waiting list will be considered for admission if others drop out or fail to qualify. Aside from the May and August 2012 academies, we do not expect to offer another program before May 2013.

Before completing this document, I encourage you to thoroughly familiarize yourself with our program and to make your decision to apply for admission to this program with careful deliberation and an honest and realistic assessment of your desire and ability to make law enforcement your career. This is a rigorous program and a significant investment of your time, energy, and money.

The fee that must accompany the formal application is $50.00. This fee is non-refundable unless it is received subsequent to the close of the admission process for that year. After your formal application is received and evaluated, you may be invited to participate in a physical efficiency battery and to sit for a panel interview. If you are offered conditional admission, you will be required to make a tuition deposit which is non-refundable unless you are disqualified by the results of any subsequent examinations. In all cases, the balance of the $5,665.00 tuition must be paid by the first day of classes.

All students admitted to the SLETP will be required to pay a Uniform/Equipment/Textbook fee of $800.00. This course fee covers the purchase of uniforms, textbooks, ear and eye protection, gun cleaning kits, and appropriate physical training active wear. Student study guides and handouts will be provided by the academy. You may be required to obtain small items such mouth guards and elbow/knee pads that become your property.

It has been our experience that students should carefully consider purchasing supplemental tuition insurance as this is a physical course. In the event of a medical emergency, a physical injury, or an exigent circumstance that would prevent a student from completing the course, this type of insurance would provide coverage for a tuition refund as a supplement to the regular Temple refund policy. Those who are accepted to the SLETP will be offered more information about tuition insurance coverage.

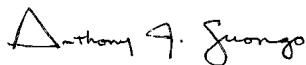

The link to the Pennsylvania State Police Request for Criminal History Record (form SP4-164) will be supplied to you in the SLETP application. Form SP4-164 can be either downloaded or completed online via the Pennsylvania Access to Criminal History (ePATCH) website along with the appropriate fee.

The cost of physical and psychological examinations will vary depending on the examiners that you select. The physical examination (form SP8-300C) may be completed by your family doctor or any state-licensed physician. The psychological examination (form SP8-300D) must be completed by a psychologist or psychiatrist licensed in your state of residence.

Students will be required to show proof of health insurance coverage at the start of the SLETP and must maintain coverage throughout the program. Off-campus housing options exist and Temple staff will make reasonable efforts to provide student with this information. However, students are responsible for final arrangements and all costs associated with off-campus housing. You may request additional clarification about these and other Temple University policies by calling (267) 468-8600 or by sending an e-mail to aluongo@temple.edu.

If you are committed to pursuing a career in law enforcement and if you feel that your motivation, judgment, integrity, physical and intellectual abilities will place you among our best applicants this year, we look forward to receiving your formal application.

Sincerely,

COURSE DESCRIPTION & ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Seasonal Law Enforcement Training Program (SLETP) at Temple University

FORM R-3
(Revised 01/12)

OVERVIEW

Temple University is Accredited by the Federal Law Enforcement Training Accreditation (FLETA) Board and authorized by the National Park Service (NPS) to conduct seasonal law enforcement training for park rangers. Students who graduate from the Temple University Seasonal Law Enforcement Training Program (SLETP) will have met the training requirements for certification that is required to serve as a seasonal law enforcement ranger in the National Park Service (NPS). In addition, completion of this program may meet the required training standard for other federal, state, and local land management / park service agencies.

The SLETP is over 500 contact hours of instruction and is academically rigorous. Temple University currently offers six (6) academic credits for successful completion of the entire program. Classes are conducted on a full-time basis, five days per week, eight hours per day, and require approximately thirteen (13) weeks to complete. Enrollment is comprised of up to twenty-six (26) students in each class. All students commute to training each day, although local, off-campus housing options exist.

The federally approved curriculum includes training in communications skills, human relations, driver training, ethics, basic tactics and self-defense, patrol procedures, federal criminal law and procedure, and firearms, among other subjects. Students are required to successfully complete numerous written examinations and skill performance evaluations in order to graduate. Proper demeanor, grooming, dress, punctuality, and attention to duty are a part of the training regimen.

Temple University's SLETP offers training beyond the core curriculum required by the National Park Service - Law Enforcement Training Center (NPS-LETC). Students who graduate from the SLETP will leave having completed ten weeks of physical fitness conditioning, trained with a state-of-the-art firearm simulator, and practiced with less-than-lethal force options in oleoresin capsicum aerosol (pepper spray), expandable baton, and electronic control weapons. Students will have learned how to properly take fingerprints and will become familiarized with proper protocols for securing crime scenes. Students will have an understanding of the sensitive subject of law enforcement suicide and learned techniques in stress management. In the final weeks of the academy, students will have received advanced instruction in the use of force, report writing, courtroom testimony, operational leadership, and professional conduct.

BASIC ELIGIBILITY QUALIFICATIONS

A minimum eighteen (18) years of age;

A current, valid driver's license;

A minimum of sixty (60) college credits successfully completed by start of the program (Prior military service with honorable discharge may be substituted);

No disqualifying criminal record;

A completed, signed application.

APPLICATION FEE

The fee that must accompany the formal application is $50.00. This fee is non-refundable unless it is received after the admissions process has closed for that year. The application fee must be paid by certified personal check, cashier's check, or money order made out to "Temple University." Please write "SLETP Application/University College" in the memo section.
