

Richard E. Moses, D.O., J.D.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Dr. Moses has been a practicing Gastroenterologist for more than twenty-five years in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He is board certified in Internal Medicine, Gastroenterology, and Forensic Medicine. He is an Adjunct Assistant Clinical Professor at the Temple University School of Medicine, and holds many administrative and consultative positions with state and national medical societies.

Also an attorney, Dr. Moses graduated from Temple University Beasley School of Law, where he has been an Adjunct Professor of Law since 1997. Over the years, he has taught a variety of health law courses. He is presently working with the law school to develop a Health Law Institute.

Dr. Moses is a nationally known speaker and has authored articles and programs on medical, legal, and risk management topics. He has a particular interest in risk management and patient rights.