

Innovations  Path to Market

Seminar Series

Discover how Temple's Office of Technology Transfer and Office of Strategic Initiatives and Corporate Partnerships can enable the commercialization of your invention.

Friday, May 8, 2009

9:00 – 10:00AM

What intellectual property can Temple claim ownership to?

How will my invention be evaluated?

What is Temple's commercialization process?

How is revenue shared?

What is Temple's startup company process?

Seminar Description: Learn the answers to these questions and more. This session will highlight how to disclose, protect, and commercialize your inventions. Also find out about Temple resources to assist with corporate partnerships, interdisciplinary collaborations, and new company formation.

Presenters:

Stephen Nappi, Director of Technology Transfer Operations

Vijay Iyer, Ph.D., Technology Transfer Licensing Associate

John Aybar, Director of Strategic Initiatives and Corporate Partnerships

Location: Student Faculty Center (SFC), 3340 N. Broad Street, Room B-7

RSVP: Please RSVP to Michelle Green at 1-5732 or mwgreen@temple.edu

Temple's Office of Technology Transfer offers a series of programs to provide beneficial information on how to protect and transfer innovative ideas to market. Each series will have a unique platform presented, disseminating information about commercializing innovations, protecting ideas, partnering with industry, and exploring entrepreneurial ambitions. We strive to offer programs that are beneficial to the Temple community. If you have feedback, please contact Stephen Nappi, Director of Technology Transfer Operations, 1-5293, snappi@temple.edu