On-Campus Leadership Opportunities

Seeking leadership experiences can have a number of benefits. Leadership experiences offer individuals opportunities to explore their personal strengths, values, and interests in various fields. Also, leadership experiences allow job seekers to form the basic work skills necessary to appear marketable to employers. In sum, leadership opportunities can serve as effective tools to help individuals discover and progress in their respective career paths.

Temple University has a number of opportunities for Temple students to develop leadership experience. Below, we have provided a list of different leadership opportunities at Temple. This list is not exhaustive, but is meant to help students begin exploring options. Please feel free to contact the Career Center to suggest additional leadership opportunities for Temple students.
