Who takes summer courses at Temple?

Smart Planners

TEMPLE STUDENTS who want to focus on a challenging required course, stay on track for graduation, get a jump on the next academic year or improve their grade point average.

VISITING STUDENTS who want to take courses while they are home for the summer, explore a new interest, accelerate a degree program or take advantage of Temple's academic reach and convenient campuses.

Successful Achievers

WORKING ADULTS who want to advance their careers by acquiring strategic knowledge, honing on-the-job skills and preparing for the next level.

TEACHERS who are seeking professional development, polishing classroom techniques or deepening their subject knowledge.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS who want to earn college credit and experience campus life.

Fun Seekers

ANYONE who wants to learn a new language, give ballroom dancing a try, learn to paint, read a few good books, manage investments more effectively, find out what makes a good wine good, prepare for retirement or just broaden their horizons by taking a for-credit or non-credit course.

Where can I take a course?

Temple makes it convenient for you to fit courses into a busy summer schedule by offering classes online, during the day and evening, and at several locations including:

Temple University Main Campus

Just a mile north of center city Philadelphia, and easily accessible by car and public transportation, is the heart of Temple University. The Main Campus is home to the Liacouras Center (a sports and performing arts center), Tuttleman Learning Center and a new 75,000 sq. ft. Tech Center that caps our reputation as one of the most connected campuses in the country.

Temple University Health Sciences Center

This campus, home to Temple University Hospital, Temple University Children's Medical Center, the schools of Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy and the College of Health Professions, is just two miles north of the Main Campus. The School of Podiatric Medicine, also part of Temple Health Sciences, is located in Center City Philadelphia.

Temple University Tyler Campus

The Tyler School of Art is set on a tree-lined campus in Elkins Park, Pennsylvania, just outside Philadelphia. While formal admission to Tyler requires a portfolio review in addition to academic qualifications, summer courses are open to all students. In addition, Tyler offers reasonably priced non-credit classes, including a pre-college summer workshop for high school students. For information, visit WWW.TEMPLE.EDU/TYLER and click on Continuing Education.

Temple University Distance Learning

Technology makes the world your campus through Temple's Distance Learning Program courses. Distance learning provides you with maximum flexibility on when and how you attend classes. It also provides you synchronous and asynchronous communication with your instructor and classmates through Blackboard, electronic text/voice messages, virtual discussion boards, and virtual audio and visual chat sessions.

FAQs

Does Temple offer programs abroad?

Yes. Temple University has campuses in Rome and Tokyo, and offers programs throughout the world. Locations include London, Paris, Ghana, Spain, Mexico, Turkey, Germany and Brazil, among others. For information on international study opportunities, visit

WWW.TEMPLE.EDU/STUDYABROAD.

I am not enrolled in a degree program at Temple, but want to take a few courses. What should I do?

Students From Other Institutions

Temple University welcomes students from other institutions. You should complete the entire registration form, including the Visiting Student Authorization section which must be completed by a representative of your home institution. If your chosen courses have prerequisites, you must submit a transcript that indicates you have taken and passed the prerequisite courses. The registration form, and transcript if needed, should be faxed or mailed to the Temple campus you plan to attend.

Non-Matriculated (Non-Degree) Students

UNDERGRADUATE LEVEL: Students not currently enrolled at another institution may register at Temple as non-matriculated students. To enroll in undergraduate courses, you must have earned a high school diploma or GED certificate. If you have attended another college or university, you must have earned at least a 2.0 cumulative grade point average and provide a transcript of your previous academic work. Non-matriculated students are generally required to take the university placement test before they register. For more information, contact any Temple registration office.

GRADUATE LEVEL: Non-matriculated graduate students can take up to three courses before admission to a degree program. At registration, you must provide proof of graduation from an accredited baccalaureate program. Some Temple graduate programs also require written faculty permission for enrollment.

Non-matriculated graduate students are encouraged to contact their chosen program at Temple for academic advising. For more information, contact the registration office of the Temple campus you wish to attend, or the Graduate School at Temple University, 215-204-1380, GraduateSchool@temple.edu, or visit WWW.TEMPLE.EDU/GRAD.

High School Students

Qualified high school students who have permission from their high school and Temple University may take summer courses at Temple. In addition, Tyler School of Art offers a pre-college workshop, and the College of Engineering offers a week-long summer residency program for students who want to explore engineering and reinforce math and science skills. The program, named Women's Engineering Explorations (WE2), invites both male and female students to apply. Robotics, another exciting Engineering program, introduces students to basic electrical and computer engineering concepts as they learn to build programmable mobile robots and earn college credit. Visit WWW.TEMPLE.EDU/ENGINEERING/WE2/WE2.HTM

for the WE2 program and

HTTP://ASTRO.TEMPLE.EDU/%7EHELFFERTY for Robotics. For information on Tyler's workshop, visit WWW.TEMPLE.EDU/TYLER.

Is housing available in the summer?

Housing may be available. For information, visit WWW.TEMPLE.EDU/HOUSING.

How is billing handled?

Billing

All Temple University billing and registration information is communicated electronically, through students' Temple e-mail addresses. You are responsible for monitoring your e-mail for this information. Matriculated students receive a message stating the payment due date, which is approximately 10 business days from the date the bill was issued.

Non-matriculated students receive their Temple login and e-mail address by regular mail within a few days of registration. After that, you receive an e-mail stating the payment due date. This date will be approximately 10 business days from the date the bill was issued.
