

GREAT WORKS symposium

ENERGY

Great Works Symposium Speaker Series

DREXEL UNIVERSITY - PENNONI HONORS COLLEGE

Where? Matheson Hall Room 109 (3220 Market St)

When? Fall 2009 - Thursday Nights - From 6 - 7:30pm

- October 1—What do we mean by Sustainability?

- Mark Alan Hughes (University of Pennsylvania), Laurie Actman (City of Philadelphia—Mayor's Office of Sustainability), Jameson Detweiler (Green.Konnect.me), Prineha Narang (Drexel Engineers Without Borders), Nathan Taylor (Drexel Sierra Club) -*In Mitchell Auditorium (Market St. between 31st & 32nd Streets)

- October 8—How are energy sustainability choices framed by political and geographical boundaries?

- Frank Laird (University of Denver)

- October 15—What are the options in sustainable power generation? A case study in solar energy and energy efficiency

- Liz Robinson (Energy Coordinating Agency), Maureen Mulligan (The Energy Cooperative), Ron Celentano (Celentano Energy Services)

- October 22—How is energy sustainability shaping building and urban design?

- Susan Piedmont—Palladino (National Building Museum/Virginia Tech)

- October 29—How Sustainable is our food system?

- James E. McWilliams (Texas State University)

- November 5—How is the desire for energy sustainability affecting transportation networks?

- Petra Mollet (American Public Transportation Association)

- November 19—Student Research Project Presentations

This event is free and open to the public. Contact the Director, Scott Knowles, for questions or information sgk23@drexel.edu or 215-895-6762

- Petra Mollet (American Public Transportation Association)