Approval of Minutes

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The text of the President's Report follows.

President's Report to the Board of Trustees, May 9, 1995

You have received four reviews and reports in the past three months on the status and prospects for the University, and particularly on "A Plan to Renew Temple's Mission." Today's will be brief.

The first item on today's agenda is my recommendation to direct us to present an alternative plan to reduce the University's current non-Hospital "running rate" by $16 million by June 30. Half of the savings ($8 million) are secure, and will be implemented by administrative action. The other half ($8 million) in savings under the Plan, provisionally approved by you in March, were to be realized by a general salary freeze for everyone in 1995-96, with 5% cuts for the President, officers and deans.

It now appears the faculty union, TAUP, which we looked to for leadership for the community as a whole, will not accept a revision of its existing contract to include a wage freeze. Neither will the Hospital Workers 1199C, the only one of Temple's 12 unions whose present contract expires on June 30. 1199C has already concluded new contracts with all other city hospitals without a wage freeze. Their position on Temple's request for a one-year wage freeze, while understandable, leaves us no practical alternative to personnel reductions, major involuntary layoffs.

Short term, mild pain for everyone that increases productivity for the University's long term benefit, was the rationale for the salary freeze and cuts.

We now face a deadline on June 29 -- the date of a Special Meeting of the Board -- for approval of a Tentative Budget for 1995-96. That Tentative Budget will include $16 million in cuts from this year's "running rate." I am confident we can and will present an alternative plan for achieving the Plan's financial objectives, consistent with the educational and productivity goals contained in "A Plan to Renew Temple's Mission."

However, I sincerely regret that involuntary layoffs -- the first at the general university in 12 years -- will be part of the alternative plan. The pain will be more severe and lasting for many loyal Temple employees who have done nothing wrong, and for the consciences of some who were unwilling to accept a little, short-term pain for all to spare greater pain for some. We will try as hard as possible to be fair, even-handed and effective. We have consulted with all major constituencies of the University, and will have the benefit of the Kearney Group of external consultants in this undertaking. But the plan we adopt will be determined by Temple, not by any outside group without responsibility for our employees, students, the University's mission, and our goal of becoming the finest urban-based university in America.

Every unit at Temple will feel part of the pain. But the alternative to the across-the-board wage freeze will not be "across the Board" programmatic or personnel cuts. No so-called "sacred cows" will be exempted.

I am disappointed but not surprised to report that selflessness and self-sacrifice for the larger good has not yet become a universal standard in labor-management negotiations. That's understandable, but a pity.

It's a shame for loyal employees and their families that personnel reductions, major involuntary layoffs, and program reductions will therefore be needed now. Maybe our message, and the sense of one community, has not gotten through. So, for the last time -- before we separate loyal Temple employees and programs for their University through no fault of their own -- I urge the unions and other members of the community: ask what we can all do for Temple and our colleagues, rather than what someone else should do for us.

Only one Honorary Degree will be awarded. It will be given to Trustee Louis J. Esposito.
