CAMPUS SAFETY AND SECURITY

Purpose and Overview

Temple University is a comprehensive public research university with more than 29,000 enrolled undergraduate students and more than 10,000 enrolled graduate students. Temple comprises nine campuses within Pennsylvania and worldwide, and has been consistently recognized as one of the most diverse universities in the nation. Student life offers initiatives, programs, activities and services that engage the entire campus community in order to help students attain their educational, personal and career goals in a nurturing and safe campus environment.

The information contained in this publication is compiled in cooperation with the Department of Campus Safety Services, the Office of University Housing and Residential Life, the Division of Student Affairs, the Office of Facilities Management, the Office of University Counsel, the Title IX Office, and local law enforcement agencies. This publication is prepared in accordance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (the “Clery Act”) and is provided as a safety service to the Temple community. The Clery Act requires schools to make timely warnings to the campus community about crimes that could pose a serious and continuing threat to students and employees occurring on campus and to make available an annual report containing crime statistics and policies and procedures related to campus safety. Each member of the Temple community receives an electronic notification through e-mail with a direct web link to this report. The report can also be accessed electronically through the Campus Safety Services website at safety.temple.edu. Prospective students and prospective employees will be directed to the Annual Safety and Annual Fire Safety Report. Printed copies are available upon request by calling Campus Safety Services at (215) 204-7900 or through e-mail at police@temple.edu.

All criminal incidents occurring on campus at Temple should be reported to the Department of Campus Safety Services, which oversees Temple Police, for effective response and documentation. Campus Safety Services works closely with local police departments surrounding each campus. Campus Safety Services reports all criminal incidents to the local police departments surrounding each campus, and respectively these local police departments supply Campus Safety Services with reports of incidents for the area surrounding each campus. Yearly statistical information on criminal incidents is reported to the Pennsylvania State Police for publication in the Pennsylvania Uniform Crime Report.

Campus Safety Services provides a daily crime log of incidents reported to Temple Police to The Temple News (the student newspaper); to Strategic Marketing and Communications; to residential life staff for distribution to all on-campus student housing facilities; and to various administrative offices around campus. The Temple community also has access to the daily crime log at the Campus Safety Services website (safety.temple.edu) and the most recent 60-day period is available for public inspection at Temple Police Headquarters. Portions of the log older than 60 days are available within two business days of a request for public inspection.

Temple cares about our students, families, friends and our surrounding community.

The Department of Campus Safety Services provides service to the Temple community 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

The department monitors security operations for more than 165 buildings, spanning approximately 390 acres.

Temple Police manages sites around the Main Campus, as well as the Health Sciences Center and Ambler campuses.

CAMPUS SAFETY SERVICES OVERVIEW

Temple Police Locations

The Department of Campus Safety Services provides service to the Temple community 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. The department monitors security operations for more than 165 buildings, spanning approximately 390 acres. Temple Police manages sites around the Main Campus, as well as the Health Sciences Center and Ambler campuses.

At the 1513 Cecil B. Moore site and other locations, we are here to assist you.

- Temple Police Administration
1101 W. Montgomery Avenue, Philadelphia
- Temple Police Patrol/Police Headquarters
1801 N. 11th Street, Philadelphia
- Temple Police Center Station
Corner of Beasley and Polett Walks, Philadelphia
- Temple Public Safety Station
1513 Cecil B. Moore, Philadelphia
- Temple Police Mini Station
1600 N. Park Avenue, Philadelphia
- Temple Police at Health Sciences Center Campus

These settings function as resource centers where individuals can interact with representatives from Campus Safety Services, obtain vital information, pick up campus maps and ID holders, and contact departmental personnel about additional programs and services.

On a typical day, Campus Safety Services staff is visible around campus directing traffic, responding to inquiries, conducting prevention programs, and interacting with the community in a variety of functions. Foot and bike patrol officers maintain positive relations with the Temple community, as they patrol specific sectors and are available to respond to situations. While on patrol, officers are highly visible in marked patrol vehicles and on bicycles wearing distinctive uniforms.

Relationship with Local Law Enforcement

Campus Safety Services maintains a collaborative network with the Philadelphia Police Department, SEPTA, Pennsylvania State Police, Upper Dublin Police Department (Ambler Campus) and other law enforcement agencies. Temple Police maintains a written agreement for specific programs with the Philadelphia Police Department. We have a MOU with the Upper Dublin Police Department.

Temple Police is currently staffed by more than 130 sworn police officers (including supervisors and detectives) patrolling area campuses. Each officer is a Pennsylvania-certified law enforcement officer who has received state-mandated police recruit training at an accredited police academy and is authorized to enforce the law and make arrests similar to any municipal police department officer. Annually, Temple Police officers are certified through state-mandated, in-service training in accordance with the Municipal Police Officers' Education and Training Commission (MPOETC). Training modules include updates to the Pennsylvania Crimes Code, Vehicle Code, and Rules of Criminal Procedure. Other sessions focus on the core concepts of procedural justice and police legitimacy, and address how to build respectful and effective relationships with the community while improving officer safety. Additional training includes certification in C.P.R. and the use of Automated External Defibrillators.

Officers wearing distinctive uniforms are highly visible patrolling their sectors.

Temple Police also utilize an integrated Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) system directly linked to the Philadelphia Police Communication Center's CAD system. This technology allows Campus Safety Services operators to view real-time information and dispatch personnel. Dispatchers have multiple monitors that give them the ability to oversee all systems from their stations. Campus Safety Services dispatchers may monitor Philadelphia Police activity in the area of university campuses and property within the City of Philadelphia through interface with the Philadelphia Police CAD.

In addition to police services, Campus Safety Services also has a Security Division that includes over 65 Temple security officers and approximately 400 full and part-time security officers from Allied Universal Security Services, a contract security company. Approximately 50 of these security officers are assigned to maintain security in on-campus student residence halls. Security officers receive annual training in the procedures for obtaining access to residence halls; including the use of card readers, enforcement of the guest policy, signing in guests, stopping intoxicated persons from entering without screening by police and/or medical personnel and assisting with evacuations and other emergencies. Security officers complete a training program that provides them with essential tools and information needed to perform their job efficiently, including Clery Compliance.

Monitoring Criminal Activity at Off-Campus Locations

When the Temple community is affected by an off-campus offense, Temple police officers may assist local law enforcement agencies with their investigation. The Philadelphia Police Department routinely works and communicates with Temple Police on any serious incidents occurring on or in the immediate neighborhood and business areas surrounding Temple's patrol areas. Temple University does not operate any off-campus housing or off-campus student organization facilities at its Main Campus.

Procedures to Report Criminal Actions or Other Emergencies Occurring on Campus

REPORTING AN EMERGENCY

Temple students, faculty, staff, and visitors are encouraged to promptly and accurately report all criminal actions and other emergencies occurring on campus to Temple Police or local law enforcement. Crimes or incidents occurring on Main Campus, Fort Washington, Health Sciences, Center City, Podiatry, and Ambler campuses may be reported to Temple Police by dialing 1-1234 (from a campus phone) or (215) 204-1234 (from a non-campus phone) or (215) 204-2357 (from a TTY phone).

Crimes and incidents occurring at other U.S. campuses, off-campus, or at Temple's Administrative Services Building (TASB) should be reported to local law enforcement at 9-1-1.

This Allied Universal bike officer quickly transveres the campus moving to his next assignment.

Temple University's Main Campus, Health Sciences, and Ambler campuses have Code Blue Emergency phones. There are approximately 90 phones spread throughout these Temple University campuses. In case of an emergency, press the red button; this will activate the system causing bright blue strobe flashes and a call will go directly to Temple Police.

Designated first aid responders for Temple University's Main Campus, Health Sciences, and Ambler campuses include the following individuals: Temple Police officers, security personnel, fire marshals, and Temple University Emergency Medical Services.

Temple's Podiatry and Center City campuses' first responders will be the City of Philadelphia's Police and Fire Departments.

Emergencies occurring at the Fort Washington or Harrisburg campuses, TASB, or off-campus should be reported to local law enforcement at 9-1-1.

Emergencies at Temple University Japan should be reported to local authorities as follows:

Fire or ambulance: 1-1-9

Police: 1-1-0 or 03-3503-8484 (weekdays 9:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.)

Emergencies at Temple University Rome should be reported to local authorities as follows:

Ambulance: 1-1-8

Police: 1-1-3

Fire: 1-1-5

All reports of crimes, emergencies, and other serious incidents made to Temple Police are promptly responded to and documented by a Temple Police officer or detective. To ensure that a record is made of each reported crime, telephone requests for service are electronically recorded. Additionally, a journal entry is made for each request. Temple Police and security officers record detailed facts of crimes and incidents on a standardized police report that is used throughout Campus Safety Services. As appropriate, crimes will be documented in a Philadelphia Police report and sent to the district of occurrence. On a monthly basis, Temple Police reports crime statistics to the Pennsylvania State Police.

If you are the victim of a crime and do not want to pursue action through the Student Conduct Code or the criminal justice system, you may still want to consider making a confidential report. Temple Police can file a report on the details of the incident without revealing your identity. The purpose of a confidential report is to comply with your wish to keep the matter confidential, while taking steps to ensure the future safety of yourself and others. This allows the university to keep an accurate record of the number of incidents involving students, determine crime patterns in a particular area, and alert the campus community to potential danger. Reports filed in this manner are counted in the annual crimes statistics for the university. In certain circumstances, the university may have to take action to protect you or the community and other members of the Temple community may be authorized to address the situation. Every effort will be made to act discretely and honor a request for confidentiality.

Temple University Security Officer Francky Lombard explains that the Code Blue emergency phone will connect the user with an Association of Public-Safety Communications Officials-International (APCO) dispatcher for immediate assistance.

The university will not tolerate retaliation against students and employees who make good faith reports of crime.

Confidential, voluntary reports by victims or witnesses of crime may be made by calling (215) 204-6493 (available 24 hours), by e-mail at police@temple.edu, or on Campus Safety Services' website on the "Submit a Tip" link. You are not required to provide your identity to submit such a report.

Campus Security Authority (CSA)

A Campus Security Authority (CSA) is an individual or organization who is associated with the university that has significant responsibility for student and campus activities.

Individuals at Temple who meet the criteria for being CSAs include, but are not limited to:

- A dean of students or vice president who oversees student housing, a student center, or student extra-curricular activities
- A director of athletics or a team coach
- A faculty advisor to a student group
- Residential Life staff members including student resident assistants (RA) or a student who monitors access to residence halls
- A coordinator of Greek life
- A Title IX coordinator
- An ombudsperson
- The director of a campus health or counseling center when acting in an administrative capacity
- Victim advocates
- Members of a sexual assault response team (SART)
- Temple Police, as well as campus security personnel

A crime is reported when a victim, witness, other third party, or even the offender brings it to the attention of a CSA or local law enforcement personnel. It does not matter whether or not the individuals involved in the crime or reporting the crime are associated with the university. If a CSA receives the crime information and believes it was provided in good faith, they should report it to Temple Police. The report should include date and location, and personally identifying information, such as name and contact information, as appropriate and with the victim's consent. In "good faith" means there is a reasonable basis for believing that the information is not simply rumor or hearsay. CSAs have an important role in ensuring that Temple University complies with the Clery Act. Crime reports submitted by CSAs assist the university to fulfill its responsibility to annually disclose accurate crime statistics; and to issue or facilitate the issuance of timely warnings or emergency notifications for crimes occurring on campus that pose a serious or continuing threat to the campus community. There are two (2) groups of individuals who, although they have significant responsibilities for student and campus activities, are not considered CSAs under the Clery Act. They are pastoral counselors and professional counselors. A pastoral counselor is defined as a person who is associated with a religious order or denomination, is recognized by that religious order or denomination as someone who provides confidential counseling, and is functioning within the scope of that recognition as a pastoral counselor. A professional counselor is defined as a person whose official responsibilities include providing mental health counseling to members of the institution's community and who is functioning within the scope of their license or certification. This definition applies to professional counselors who are employees of Temple as well as ones who are not employees of Temple but are under contract to provide counseling at the institution.

Timely Warnings

Temple University, in a manner that is timely and will aid in the prevention of similar crimes, will report to the campus community certain crimes occurring in the designated reporting areas required by the Clery Act: (1) on campus (2) on public property within or immediately adjacent to the campus and (3) in or on non-campus buildings or property that the institution owns or controls. Timely warnings will be issued for certain crimes reported to Temple Police or local police agencies that are considered by university officials to represent a serious or continuing threat to students and employees so that they can take protective measures. Additional information may be provided as it becomes available.

Timely warnings will keep victim identities confidential to the fullest extent possible.

The following methods may be used to communicate a timely warning: an e-mail to students, faculty, and staff; a posting in campus buildings; and/or providing information by other electronic means. If there is an immediate threat to the health or safety of students and employees occurring on campus, Temple will follow its emergency notification procedures described in subsequent sections, which will serve as a timely warning.

Effective and reliable mass notification has become a fundamental aspect of university security. In the event of an actual emergency, Temple students and employees will be notified through text messaging, e-mail, and/or phone calls. Students, faculty, and staff should take responsibility for regularly checking their university e-mail accounts. By default, emergency notification will be sent directly to their mobile phones based on telephone numbers registered under Personal Information “Mobile – Personal” and/or “Mobile – Work” in TU portal (tuportal.temple.edu).

Emergency Response and Evacuation Procedures

Temple University recognizes its responsibility to provide accurate and timely information to the campus community during emergencies. The Emergency Communication Policy (policy no. 04.61.01) establishes the approval process, criteria, and method for communicating with students, faculty, and staff in the event of an emergency at any of its locations.

Sarah Powell (Director of Temple’s Office of Emergency Management) and Jeff Hester (Allied Universal supervisor) discuss logistics during an emergency preparedness drill.

PROCEDURES TO NOTIFY THE CAMPUS COMMUNITY

Upon confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation by Temple Police or authorized personnel involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees on campus, the President, and the Executive Director of Campus Safety and/or their designees will determine the type and content of the notification to the Temple community, and will initiate the campus notification procedures. Temple University will, without delay, and taking into account the safety of the community, determine the content of the notification, determine the appropriate segment of community to receive the notice and initiate the notification system, unless doing so will, in the professional judgment of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate the emergency.

EMERGENCY NOTIFICATION

Temple University has various systems in place for communicating information to students, faculty, and staff. The following details the types of notification and criteria for use:

TUalert: Used to communicate information regarding an incident that occurs on campus that is deemed an emergency requiring immediate action on the part of the campus community. This is an e-mail, a text message to registered mobile phones, and/or a phone call.

TUsiren: Used only to alert the campus community of a threat imminent to, or occurring on campus that is deemed a catastrophic and life-threatening situation (e.g. severe weather, release of hazardous material, or life-threatening active shooter incident). The siren will indicate the need for all to shelter-in-place or lockdown securely within buildings, unless otherwise directed.

Messages about criminal activity generally will not trigger an emergency communication unless it is determined there is an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees. There are, however, limited instances when university officials may deem it appropriate to send a Timely Warning to students and employees regarding criminal activity in or around campus that does not involve an immediate threat.

More information regarding Temple University's emergency response and evacuation procedures, and directions on how to register for TUalert, can be found online: safety.temple.edu/emergency-preparedness.

During active shooter training drills, TUPD officers refresh their skills and focus on the objective of apprehending the assailants and restoring safety to the community.

DISSEMINATION OF EMERGENCY INFORMATION

To communicate information to the larger community, Temple University's home page (www.temple.edu) may be updated to display important information about significant emergencies or dangerous situations involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of the campus community. The Temple Information Line (215) 204-1975 may also be activated during an emergency for those needing to call in for recorded updates on the situation. Once there is no longer a threat to the campus community, a message will be sent to resume operations as usual. Both the home page and the information line will be updated accordingly.

GENERAL EVACUATION PROCEDURE

An evacuation is implemented under conditions when it is no longer safe for students, faculty, and staff to remain in a building or a specific area in a building. This requires occupants to move out and away from a building to a designated rally point or out and away from a specific area within a building. It is most commonly used when there is a suspected fire or hazardous material spill in a building.

In the event that you must evacuate, you should:

1. Leave immediately when the fire alarm sounds. Close all doors behind you, proceed to the fire exit, and leave the building. If you are in Morgan North or South, The Edge, or The Nest, evacuation occurs on the floor of the alarm and on the floors above and below the alarm. The remaining floors should await notification and instructions from the Philadelphia Fire Department Incident Commander, Temple University Fire Marshal or other university personnel regarding evacuation.
2. Do not use elevators. Use the stairs. Elevators will stop if power fails, causing occupants to become trapped. Elevator shafts are like chimneys. Smoke could enter the elevator and shaft thereby asphyxiating the occupants trying to evacuate the building.

3. If the door is hot or smoke is seeping in, do not open it. Feel the door that leads from your room to the corridor for heat before opening it. If you become trapped in your room and cannot reach the fire exit, keep the door closed and seal off any cracks. Call the Fire Department (911) or Temple Police (215) 204-1234 and give your specific location, including the floor and room number.
4. Stay low if caught in smoke or heat. Take short breaths (through your nose) until you reach an area of refuge.
5. If the door feels cool, open cautiously. Be prepared to slam it shut if the corridor is full of smoke or if you feel heat pressure against the door. If the corridor is clear, proceed with the escape plan.
6. Keep moving for at least 200 feet and proceed to the designated rally point after leaving the building. Do not re-enter until given permission by Temple Police or the Fire Department.
7. People with Functional and Access Needs: If your floor has to be evacuated, you should plan to relocate to an Area of Refuge or exit stair landing. Once situated, call Temple Police (215-204-1234) or the Fire Department (911). Identify your location and floor. Be sure to indicate if you require special equipment to descend the stairs. The Fire Department should arrive in minutes to assist. Plan in advance to have a responsible person assist you in the event of fire.

If you become trapped and cannot reach the fire exit, keep the door closed and seal off any cracks. Contact appropriate authorities and give the location of your building, the floor you are on and a contact number:

- if appropriate, call the Temple Police at (215) 204-1234 or the local police and fire departments by calling 9-1-1;
- in Rome, call the fire department at 1-1-5;
- in Japan, call the fire department at 1-1-9

TUEMS staff outline the triage process to provide emergency medical care during a simulation drill.

Keep all fire exit and corridor doors closed at all times. These doors are fire rated to keep smoke and heat from entering stairways and adjoining corridors. If at any time you observe these doors propped or tied open, please close them and report the location to the University Fire Marshals, John Higgins: (215) 204-8687 or John Maule: 215-204-7938 or call Temple Police (215) 204-1234.

Area of Refuge: If your floor has to be evacuated, relocate to a protected area, such as oversized landings in fire-safe stairwells or stand-alone, barriered compartments on the floor. Next, call Temple Police (215-204-1234) or the Fire Department (911) and provide your location. Wait in the protected space until fire department personnel can remove you. Personal Preparedness: Plan in advance to have a responsible person assist you in the event of fire. Use a “buddy” system to help you get to a protected area. Anticipate situations where the “buddy” may not be available in an emergency.

Fire towers are enclosed stairways that have fire-rated doors and walls that provide a refuge from smoke and heat in a fire emergency. Doors leading into fire towers are inspected periodically to ensure that they open and close properly and should never be tied or propped open. Fire towers cannot be used for storage or as smoking areas. Fire towers are to be clean, well-lit, and free of obstructions at all times. Fire towers are an Area of Refuge.

For more information regarding emergency-response procedures, as well as a Main Campus rally point map, visit safety.temple.edu/emergency-preparedness/know-what-do.

SHELTER-IN-PLACE PROCEDURE

Shelter-in-place means to seek immediate shelter and remain there during an emergency rather than evacuate the area. Shelter-in-place will only be used when an evacuation is not safe, such as during a hazardous materials release or severe weather event. Notification to shelter-in-place may be made using all means of communication available. In the event that the TU siren is activated, a TUALert will be sent and the Temple home page will be updated.

In the event that the shelter-in-place protocol is initiated, it is recommended that you:

1. Stay inside your building, or immediately go into the nearest building.
2. Move to interior rooms with no windows or with windows that can be closed. Rooms that have little or no outside ventilation are preferred.
3. Close any open windows and doors.
4. Await further instruction. Be prepared to quickly follow directions from responders or from TUALert.
5. Do not evacuate the building until an “All Clear” is given by emergency personnel or by TUALert.

LOCKDOWN

A Lockdown is a procedure used when there is an immediate threat to the building occupants and there is a need to stop access to all or a portion of the buildings on campus. In the event of a Lockdown, secure yourself in a room and do not leave until the situation has been resolved. This allows emergency responders to secure the students and staff in place, address the immediate threat, render first aid if needed, and remove any innocent bystanders from immediate danger to an area of safe refuge. If the event is an ACTIVE SHOOTER scenario, your best chance of survival may be to get out of the building as quickly as possible, so be aware of the situation.

IF YOU ARE INSIDE THE BUILDING ON CAMPUS WHERE AN INCIDENT IS OCCURRING ELSEWHERE:

1. Lock exterior doors only if the threat is OUTSIDE the building and it is safe to reach the doors.
2. Call Temple Police (1-1234) or 911 as soon as you are able and only if you have information to provide.
3. Notify other building occupants of “Campus Lockdown” status if possible.
4. Close, lock and barricade interior doors, if possible.
5. HIDE in your room or office.
6. REMAIN QUIET.
7. WAIT until emergency personnel give you an “All Clear.”

IF YOU ARE INSIDE A BUILDING ON CAMPUS WHERE AN INCIDENT IS OCCURRING:

1. Lock exterior doors only if the threat is OUTSIDE the building and it is safe to reach the doors.
2. Call Temple Police (1-1234) or 911 as soon as you are able. Provide as much information as possible to the police.
3. RUN: If you can get out, LEAVE IMMEDIATELY and seek safe refuge elsewhere.
4. HIDE: If you cannot get out, SECURE YOURSELF. Hide behind locked doors, away from windows, and to be silent and still.
5. Close, lock and barricade interior doors, if possible.
6. REMAIN QUIET.
7. FIGHT: As a Last Resort, and only if your life is in danger, be prepared to defend yourself.
8. WAIT until you are given the “All Clear.”

IF YOU ARE OUTSIDE A BUILDING WHERE AN INCIDENT IS OCCURRING:

1. Do not enter the building.
2. Go far away from the building(s) under lockdown.
3. Find a safe location and stay there.
4. DO NOT LEAVE YOUR SAFE AREA until the Police release you from your area.
5. Await emergency notification in the form of a TUALert. Check the University’s website and social media sites for updates and further information as it becomes available.
6. Do not call the location on Lockdown as you may endanger lives.
7. Call Temple Police (1-1234) or 911 if you have relevant information.

TESTING

Temple University will conduct annual testing of its emergency response and evacuation procedures. During the tests, students and employees learn the locations of the emergency exits in the buildings, the direction they should travel when exiting each facility and their designated rally points.

The tests may be announced or unannounced. In conjunction with at least one test per calendar year, the university will publicize its emergency response and evacuation procedures. The Office of the Fire Marshal and Temple Police are responsible for coordinating the tests. For each specific test, the university will document a description of the exercise, the date, the time, and whether the test was announced or unannounced.

After evacuating, building occupants should report to the appropriate Rally Point to receive further instruction. A map of rally point locations is available at <https://safety.temple.edu/emergency-preparedness/get-educated/procedures/evacuation>.

Temple Police officers and security personnel have a high level of visibility on Main Campus, Health Sciences Center, Center City, Podiatry, Fort Washington and Ambler Campuses, which helps create a strong connection with the community. Linked through the state-of-the-art communication center, officers patrol campuses 24 hours a day—on foot, in cars, and on bicycles.

Security cameras provide the Campus Safety Services team with vital information, images and the ability to monitor activity.

Campus Security Features

The Department of Campus Safety Services works in conjunction with the Office of Facilities Management to ensure the security of university facilities. Generally, police personnel submit written reports outlining any lighting or safety hazards that they observe. These reports are submitted to the Office of Facilities Management for resolution. Some safety features include:

- Maintaining lighting on campus to deter crime. Temple University's campuses have over 1,000 lights mounted on building rooftops. The 1,000-watt metal halide bulbs create a bright white illumination that mimics daylight at ground level.
- Ensuring shrubbery is appropriately located and maintained so that all areas are illuminated properly and safety hazards are corrected.
- Providing shuttle services for convenient transport on and around campus. FLIGHT provides direct service to and from your home within a set geographical area on Main Campus. - Maintaining Code Blue Emergency Phones. There are approximately 90 outdoor emergency phones strategically located on campus walkways, near on-campus student housing facilities and university buildings, and at or near parking areas. These communication devices are highly visible and provide a fully self-contained emergency communication device for anyone in urgent need of assistance.
- Walking escorts are available to accompany individuals as they travel within a designated area around the campus. The escort service operates daily from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. and can be requested by calling 8-WALK (8-9255) from a campus phone or 215-777-9255 from a cell phone.
- Maintaining video imaging systems (security cameras). Temple University has more than 600 cameras within Campus Safety Services' video imaging system installed on various campuses with images streaming to a central server authorized by Campus Safety Services. Campus cameras include both internal and external uses, with low-level and rooftop perspectives. Temple policy provides guidelines for the approval, installation, use, and standard maintenance of cameras or video imaging systems which are intended to aid and enhance the security of the university community. Temple University permits the use of Video Imaging Systems and access to the resulting images captured only when approved by the Department of Campus Safety Services or the pertinent senior university officer.

CAMPUS PATROLS

Temple Police officers and security personnel have a high level of visibility on Main Campus, Health Sciences Center, Center City, Podiatry, Fort Washington and Ambler Campuses, which helps create a strong connection with the community. Linked through the state-of-the-art communication center, officers patrol campuses 24 hours a day—on foot, in cars, and on bicycles.

ACCESS TO CAMPUS FACILITIES

There are more than 160 buildings at Temple University. Access to open buildings, events, and programs is granted to all students and employees with a Temple identification card. Students and employees are expected to carry their identification card at all times. Upon request of an officer of the university, individuals must show their identification cards. Visitors may be granted access for specific activities by presenting picture identification.

PARKING

Temple University currently maintains four garages and 11 surface parking lots that are well-lit and provide more than 5,600 spaces on three campuses. Most areas are staffed by parking attendants and are periodically patrolled by Temple Police or security personnel. To increase personal safety, everyone is encouraged to use on campus parking garages and lots. For more information contact the Office of Parking Services at <http://campusoperations.temple.edu/parking-transportation/parking-services>.

BIKE REGISTRATION

Students, faculty and staff are strongly encouraged to register their bicycles with Temple Police at the beginning of each semester. Registration is free and serves as a deterrent to theft. After completing the on-line registration process available at safety.temple.edu your information will be registered in a database. Bring your bike and TUID to a designated Campus Safety Services location. You will receive a TUPD sticker, a registration identification sticker, a flyer about securing your bike properly and a free U-lock (while supplies last). More than 700 bikes are registered annually.

Safety Awareness Programs

Campus Safety Services offers a wide variety of safety awareness programs designed to inform students and employees about security procedures and encourage the university community members to be responsible for their safety. Orientations are offered continuously throughout the year, though many student sessions occur in August.

NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION

Each semester Campus Safety Services conducts informational sessions to familiarize new students with the department, available services, reporting procedures, and university policies. The presentation also includes risk reduction strategies and role-playing exercises focused towards managing the transition to the college experience and urban living.

New Student Orientation also includes training and education on strategies for preventing and addressing sexual assault, dating and domestic violence, and stalking, including identification of resources for survivors and strategies for bystander intervention to prevent incidents.

Temple University's Housing and Residential Life department offers housing in communal, suite, and apartment-style accommodations. Within Residential Life, there are approximately 170 professional and student staff. These individuals have training regarding emergency response, and documenting and reporting crime.

Safety Policies for On-Campus Student Housing Facilities

University Housing and Residential Life offers housing in communal, suite, and apartment-style accommodations. Within Residential Life, there are approximately 170 professional and student staff. These individuals have training regarding emergency response, and documenting and reporting crime. All residence halls are coeducational, with men and women living in the same building, with most individual apartments, suites, and rooms being single sex. Each residence hall has a security officer present in the lobby area 24 hours a day to monitor access to the building. All residents must “tap” their Temple University identification card so that the security officer can verify their identity. For those that do not have their Temple University identification card, they must enter their information into the authentication station before they can gain entry to the building.

ON-CAMPUS FACILITIES

Temple’s residence halls house more than 5,700 students in 11 buildings yearly, including about 100 graduate students. Housing is assigned on a first-come, first-served basis and due to limited availability, is focused primarily on incoming freshmen and returning sophomores who complete all steps of the housing selection process. However, in some cases, returning juniors or seniors do receive housing due to their individual circumstance.

OFF-CAMPUS HOUSING

Students who are in search of off-campus housing secure their own housing accommodations. Temple’s Off-Campus Housing offers guidance in the apartment search process. Students use the Off-Campus Housing listing website at <http://offcampus.temple.edu> for details about properties in the surrounding community.

Orientation serves as the first step for new students to embark upon their transition to Temple Owls!

ROOM CHANGE PROCEDURES

Temple University's Room Change Process occurs at the beginning of each semester and is available throughout the entire academic year. Students are always encouraged to speak with their building administrators, such as the Front Desk Manager, Resident Assistant, and/or Resident Director, to discuss room change procedures, policies and issues involved in their room. Building staff will work with students to ensure they properly check-in and check-out of their spaces. Necessary room changes due to student conflicts and/or building maintenance issues may occur at any time throughout the year. For specific information about the Room Change Process, please visit: <https://housing.temple.edu/select-your-housing/room-change>.

ACCESS

All Temple University-managed residence hall facilities have security officers stationed at or near their entrances in order to regulate access. Only students assigned to a building may enter a residence hall without being signed in as a "guest." To gain access, residents swipe or tap their identification cards. Each security desk is equipped with an ID reader and a monitor that displays a picture of the student for identification verification before gaining entry to the building. All residents are required to have their ID cards available for presentation when they enter a building.

Security Officer Leonard Lucas explains the guest sign-in process to a new resident at the 1940 residence hall

GUEST POLICY

Guests are individuals who come to a residence hall to visit a specific resident. The resident host must meet their guest with their Owl Card and guest card at the security desk to sign them into their residence hall. The guests must present a VALID picture identification (i.e., driver's license, military ID, college or Owl Card) to complete the sign-in process. The security officer (SO) registers the guests and retains the guests' identification and the resident's guest card until the host signs out the guest. Guests will not be signed in without proper ID.

Visitors who arrive unaccompanied by a resident must arrange to meet the resident at the entrance before they will be allowed to enter the facility. The resident must come to the security desk, verify the visitor as a guest and complete the sign-in process. Each time the guest(s) enters or leaves the building, the guest must be signed in and signed out.

The resident has a responsibility to escort guests at all times while they are in the residence hall. Also, the resident should ensure that each guest adheres to all University Housing & Residential Life's community living standards, rules, and regulations as outlined in the Rights, Responsibilities, and Resource Guide located at <https://housing.temple.edu/resources-and-services/rights-and-responsibilities>, as well as all local, state, and federal laws.

A maximum of three guests are permitted from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. There are additional restrictions for overnight guests and individuals under the age of 18 years. Residents should consult their housing contracts and applicable policies for additional information.

- Student residing in Johnson and Hardwick Residence Halls may have one overnight guest, provided the guest is over 18 years of age, for a time period no longer than two consecutive nights.
- Students residing in Morgan Complex, White, 1940, Temple Towers, 1300, The Edge, and Beech International Residence Halls may have two overnight guests, provided the guest is over 18 years of age, for a time period no longer than two consecutive nights.

SECURITY PRECAUTIONS

Residents are issued a key/keycard that opens their room only. If a key/keycard is lost, a lock change is ordered and a new key/keycard is issued. All residence hall windows have locks and screens. In addition, for enhanced safety, security access screens have been attached to the windows on the lower floors of on-campus student housing facilities.

UNIVERSITY BREAK PERIODS

Low Occupancy Periods: The contract dates for undergraduate housing are available at <https://housing.temple.edu/important-dates>. Students are required to vacate during Fall, Winter, and Spring breaks. However, all residence halls remain open during all break periods. Students who wish to stay in the halls during University breaks must request a housing extension to do so. There is an additional charge for students to stay during Winter Break (no charge for Fall or Spring break). Graduate contracts do not contain the expectation to vacate during breaks. During these low occupancy periods, residents are encouraged to take all of their valuables with them. The University's residential guest policy remains in effect during all break periods.

Safety Initiatives in On-Campus Student Housing Facilities

FALL AND SPRING MOVE-IN

University Housing and Residential Life staff reinforce safety and security messages sent by Campus Safety Services, the Wellness Resource Center, and other campus partners, beginning at the move-in periods and continuing throughout the academic year.

COMMUNITY MEETINGS

Three times each semester, Residential Life staff hold floor and area community meetings with residents. During these meetings, safety and security policies are reinforced and conversations are held with residents.

RESIDENTIAL CURRICULUM

As part of University Housing and Residential Life's Residential Curriculum, students are engaged in ongoing and intentional active reflection around three primary learning goals: self-exploration; relationship development; and social and cultural awareness. Through the curriculum, various learning strategies are used to engage students on safety and security and other various topics. These learning strategies include intentional 1-1 interactions between staff and residents, self-guided and planned community engagement opportunities, and connections to campus and community partners.

THAT'S NOT LOVE

That's Not Love is an activity conducted with residents once each semester that focuses on how to address toxic relationships.

ALCOHOL AWARENESS

At least once each semester, residents are also engaged in an alcohol awareness initiative in the residence halls.

Missing Student Notification

Temple University encourages all students to identify an emergency contact through TUPortal (tuportal.temple.edu), under the Student Tools tab. Students who reside in on-campus housing at either the Main Campus or at the School of Podiatry have the additional option of identifying a confidential missing person contact in the event that the student is determined to be missing. The missing persons contact is distinct from the "emergency contact": the missing persons contact is registered confidentially, and only authorized campus officials and law enforcement officers in furtherance of a missing person investigation have access to this missing person contact information.

If a member of the Temple community has reason to believe that a student residing in on-campus housing is missing, the individual should immediately report it to Temple Police at (215) 204-1234 or at 1-1234 from a campus phone, or from any of the code blue light emergency telephones on or around campus. Anyone receiving a missing student report should immediately forward the information to Temple Police.

If Temple Police determine that a student is missing, Temple Police will notify the Philadelphia Police Department or other local law enforcement, regardless of whether the student has identified a confidential missing person contact.

Morgan Hall is visible between the flags on Broad Street.

For students residing in on-campus housing, Temple Police will also notify the Director of University Housing and Residential Life or their designee. The Director of University Housing and Residential Life or their designee will notify the student's designated contact within 24 hours after the determination that the student is missing. If the missing student is less than 18 years of age and is not emancipated, the Director of University Housing and Residential Life will immediately notify the student's parent or guardian in addition to the student's designated contact.

Drug and Alcohol Use

Temple University strictly prohibits the unlawful possession, use, consumption, distribution, or manufacture of drugs and alcohol on university property, or as part of any university activity. A violation of this policy will subject the student to the full range of sanctions, including, but not limited to, expulsion, as outlined in the Student Conduct Code. Employees who violate the university's policies on alcohol and drug use are subject to discipline, up to and including termination.

Like the iconic Temple flag represents strength and positive character, the Collegiate Recovery Program creates a network to support students in various stages of recovery to achieve academic success and other goals.

The Student Conduct Code and other university policies contain additional requirements and prohibitions regarding the use of drugs and alcohol (e.g., drug and alcohol policies affecting Athletics, Greek Life, and Residential Life). The Student Conduct Code states possible penalties for drug-related and alcohol-related offenses which include expulsion, suspension, probation, fine, withdrawal of student privileges, letter of reprimand, and loss of university housing or privileges. Additionally, anyone who violates the Drug and Alcohol Use policy will be subject to criminal prosecution under applicable local, state, and federal laws.

It is unlawful to sell, furnish, or provide alcohol to a person under the age of 21. The use or possession of alcohol by anyone under the age of 21 is illegal. The Dean of Students may notify a student's parents or guardians of any alcohol or drug violations occurring when the student is under the age of 21. Campus Safety Services will notify parents or guardians of students under the age of 21 upon issuing a citation for an alcohol violation.

The illegal use, possession, sale, or distribution of any controlled substance is a violation of both state and federal laws. Such laws are strictly enforced by Temple Police. Violators are subject to university disciplinary action, criminal prosecution, fine, and imprisonment.

For a description of the applicable legal sanctions for the unlawful possession or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol and related health risks, students should review the university's Student Drug and Alcohol policy (http://policies.temple.edu/list_docs.asp#D) Employees should review the university's Employee Drug and Alcohol Policy (http://policies.temple.edu/list_docs.asp#D) as well as section 11.9 in the university's employee manual (http://www.temple.edu/hr/departments/employeerelations/employee_manual.html).

MEDICAL AMNESTY

The university strongly encourages students to call Campus Safety Services for medical assistance for themselves or for other individuals who are dangerously under the influence of drugs or alcohol. No student seeking medical treatment for the effects of drug or alcohol use will be subject to university discipline for violations pertaining to drug or alcohol use as outlined in the Student Code. Medical amnesty does not apply to disciplinary action relating to any other criminal activity including but not limited to assault, property damage, or the presence of or distribution of other substances. This medical amnesty will be granted to both the intoxicated student and to the student seeking medical assistance for the intoxicated student; however, the intoxicated student will be required to participate in the university's Drug and Alcohol Education Program in order to receive medical amnesty.

The university policy on Preventing and Addressing Sexual Misconduct (policy number 04.82.02) is intended to promote an environment at Temple University which is free of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation, as well as one that is consistent with other constitutional protections and personal freedoms.

Drug and Alcohol Education

The Wellness Resource Center is responsible for alcohol and drug use prevention education. The office is staffed by health professionals and peer educators who provide comprehensive wellness education, resources, and prevention education to Temple students.

The CASA program is staffed by trained professionals and offers individual and group counseling. Online screening, as well as, educational literature are also available. Counselors will also refer students to mental health resources on campus and in the city that are specific to their needs. There are no fees for any assistance provided by Tuttleman Counseling Services.

Employees are encouraged to use campus-related self-help groups (e.g., Adult Children of Alcoholics, Alcoholics Anonymous, or Narcotics Anonymous), the EAP (Employee Assistance Program), or health insurance plans, as appropriate, when facing alcohol and/or drug-related problems. Employees may contact the Human Resources Benefits Department at (215) 204-1321. Tuttleman Counseling Services is also available to provide employees a one-time consultation for assistance with identifying mental health related community resources. Other support resources include:

- Alcohol Abuse and Crisis Intervention
Telephone: (800) 231-0246
- Alcohol and Drug Abuse Hotline
Telephone: (800) 333-4444

Weapons Policy

Firearms and other dangerous weapons are strictly prohibited in or on university premises. This prohibition applies to all persons, even those who possess a license to carry such weapons, except for authorized Campus Safety Services and other law enforcement personnel performing official functions. Reported violations will be investigated and violators will be arrested, cited, and/or disciplined as appropriate. Temple University Campus Police Officers are sworn law enforcement officers. They are annually certified by the Municipal Police Officers' Education and Training commission and carry firearms, batons, and other weapons.

Sex Offenses, Domestic and Dating Violence, and Stalking

The following information is drawn from Temple University's policy on Preventing and Addressing Sexual Misconduct, which can be found at http://policies.temple.edu/list_docs.asp#P.

Temple University prohibits sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation (collectively referred to as "sexual misconduct").

DEFINITIONS

CONSENT:

Consent in relationship to sexual activity is defined in Pennsylvania and at Temple in accordance with its plain and common meaning. With respect to sexual activity, consent means words or actions that show a knowing and voluntary agreement to engage in mutually agreed sexual activity. Consent must be ongoing through sexual activity and can be revoked at any time. Assent (an affirmative statement or action) shall not constitute consent if it is given by a person who is unable to make a reasonable judgment concerning the nature or harmfulness of the activity because of intoxication, unconsciousness, youth, mental deficiency or incapacity, or if the assent is the product of threat or coercion. Consent to prior sexual activities does not constitute consent to future acts.

SEXUAL ASSAULT:

Temple's policies prohibit any of the following:

- Any intentional and unconsented touching, or threat or attempt thereof, of: (i) an intimate bodily part of another person, such as a sexual organ, buttocks or breast; (ii) any bodily part of another person with a sexual organ; or (iii) any part of another person's body with the intent of accomplishing a sexual act; or
- Unwanted, inappropriate disrobing of another person or purposeful exposure of one's genitals to another without the other's consent; or
- Forcing, or attempting to force, any other person to engage in sexual activity of any kind without the individual's consent.

In Pennsylvania, the crime of sexual assault is defined as when a person engages in sexual intercourse or deviate sexual intercourse with a complainant without the victim's Effective Consent. Rape is defined in Pennsylvania as penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim. Rape also occurs when a person engages in sexual intercourse with a person by forcible compulsion or the threat of forcible compulsion that would prevent resistance by a person of reasonable resolution, or when a person is unconscious or where the person knows that the victim is unaware that the act is occurring.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE:

An act of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim, by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabitating with or who has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim, by any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or as "domestic violence" is otherwise defined under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.¹

Domestic Violence is currently not specifically defined by Pennsylvania state statute, however family abuse is. "Abuse" is defined as the occurrence of one or more of the following acts between family or household members, sexual or intimate partners or persons who share biological parenthood:

- (1) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly or recklessly causing bodily injury, serious bodily injury, rape, involuntary deviate sexual intercourse, sexual assault, statutory sexual assault, aggravated indecent assault, indecent assault or incest with or without a deadly weapon.
- (2) Placing another in reasonable fear of imminent serious bodily injury.
- (3) The infliction of false imprisonment pursuant to 18 Pa.C.S. §2903 (relating to false imprisonment).
- (4) Physically or sexually abusing minor children, including such terms as defined in Chapter 63 (relating to child protective services).
- (5) Knowingly engaging in a course of conduct or repeatedly committing acts toward another person, including following the person, without proper authority, under circumstances which place the person in reasonable fear of bodily injury. The definition of this paragraph applies only to proceedings commenced under this title and is inapplicable to any criminal prosecutions commenced under Title 18 (relating to crimes and offenses).

DATING VIOLENCE:

Means violence committed by a person:

- (a) who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim; and
- (b) where the existence of such a relationship will be determined based on the reporting party's statement and with a consideration of the following factors:
 - (i) The length of the relationship.
 - (ii) The type of relationship.
 - (iii) The frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship.

Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse. Dating violence does not include acts that meet the definition of "domestic violence."

STALKING:

Stalking means engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for one's safety or the safety of others; or suffer severe emotional distress; or as "stalking" is otherwise defined by the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. One engages in an impermissible course of conduct if one engages in two or more acts that include, but are not limited to, acts in which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates about a person in a way prohibited as described above, or interferes with a person's property.²

² See 18 Pa. C.S.A. § 2709.1.

Inspector Jeff Chapman leads the way as the campus community unites to end violence during the TU Walk event.

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION:

Sexual Exploitation includes, but is not limited to: non-consensual visual or audio recording of sexual activity; non-consensual display or distribution of photos, images or information of an individual's sexual activity or intimate body parts; non-consensual voyeurism; prostituting another person; or knowingly transmitting sexually transmitted infections (STI) or sexually transmitted diseases (STD) without disclosing that one is infected with an STI or STD.

TEMPLE'S POLICIES

The university policy on Preventing and Addressing Sexual Misconduct (policy number 04.82.02) is intended to promote an environment at Temple University which is free of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation, as well as one that is consistent with other constitutional protections and personal freedoms. Specifically, the policy provides for:

- (1) comprehensive education and prevention programs that inform the university community that Temple prohibits and does not tolerate sexual misconduct and about the risks and myths that contribute to sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation;
- (2) the definition of consent in reference to sexual activity in Pennsylvania;
- (3) the definition of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, stalking, and sexual exploitation, in Pennsylvania;
- (4) procedures sensitive to victims in responding to reports of alleged sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation, including informing victims about their right to file criminal charges as well as the availability of medical, counseling, and support services, and alternative remedies such as housing and academic accommodation, if reasonably available; and
- (5) university disciplinary sanctions for those who commit sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation.

In collaboration with the Title IX Coordinator various university offices (Wellness Resource Center, Institutional Diversity, Equity, Advocacy, and Leadership, Human Resources, etc.) provide educational programming and training opportunities for students, faculty, and staff. The educational programs include:

- Orientation: developing orientation programs for new students, faculty and staff that are designed to educate the campus community about the university's policies and prevention programs related to sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation. The orientation programs, both in-person sessions and on-line orientations, include Pennsylvania's definitions of sexual assault, consent, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation, as well as how to avoid potential incidents, and resources available.
- Training: providing training to student peer groups, student workers, and faculty and staff members about how to provide support, education, and counseling referrals to victim-survivors.
- Social Norms Messaging: Social norms messaging is used in communications such as posters, resources, and social media to promote healthy behaviors and accessing resources. Content includes sexual violence prevention, alcohol and other drug prevention, medical amnesty, and campus resources.
- Give a Hoot – Owls Speak Up: a bystander intervention program that teaches students how to identify high-risk behaviors amongst their peers, intervene, and refer to appropriate resources.
- Education sessions: programs are developed for the general student population, student groups, or guest lectures to address content related to student well-being. Sexual assault prevention and alcohol abuse prevention are commonly requested topics. Campus resources are covered in the presentations and students learn how to recognize high-risk behaviors and other problems/issues including alcohol/drug use, sexual health, interpersonal violence and sexual assault, mental health, and body image.

Participants learn how to intervene in problematic situations (Give a Hoot) and to make appropriate referrals to on-campus resources. They also learn skills to reduce risk, and to overcome barriers through various intervention strategies with the goal of reducing bystander inaction.

- The Clothesline Project: a living arts project that bears witness to interpersonal violence. During the event, a clothesline is hung with shirts. Each shirt is decorated to represent a particular person's experience, by the survivor or by someone who cares about a survivor. The shirts are different color to represent the form of abuse. This event is coupled with educational activities, resources, and information. Campus partners and support services are available for survivors and those who support survivors during the program.
- Walk TU: Temple's Walk to End Sexual Violence is held annually as the kickoff to Sexual Assault Awareness Month events. The walk welcomes anyone to participate and helps promote awareness that sexual violence is an issue that all members of the Temple community can help address.
- Sexual Assault Awareness Month Programming: programming occurred throughout the month of April with the 2018 theme of "Embrace Your Voice." programming included BOUT that Life with Chimi Boyd-Keyes, Day of Action workshops, Denim Day, and an anti-street harassment event.
- Sexual Assault Prevention Week: In the month of September, Temple Student Government, along with the Wellness Resource Center and the Office of Equal Opportunity and Compliance, coordinated a series of events on Main Campus. The Wellness Resource Center co-facilitated a session, "Is This OK?": Creating a culture of consent, respect, and communication.

- EVERFI Online Prevention Programs: Online educational modules by EVERFI provide students with important information around sexual violence, consent, alcohol and other drugs, and campus policies and resources. All students who are new to Temple University are assigned mandatory programming. These modules provide a foundation for additional programming and events provided throughout the academic year that address these issues.
- Step UP! A comprehensive bystander intervention training created by the University of Arizona in partnership with the NCAA. The goals of Step Up! are to raise awareness of helping behaviors, increase motivation to help, develop skills and confidence when responding to problems or concerns, and ensure the safety and well-being of self and others. Step UP! is delivered in partnership with the Wellness Resource Center and Athletics.
- Partnership with Women Organized Against Rape (WOAR): Temple University established a partnership with WOAR during the 2016/2017 academic year that provides students with a third campus confidential reporting location. Students can contact WOAR through their 24-hour hotline, and if necessary a WOAR representative will meet with the student at a Main campus location. The enhanced partnership with WOAR includes the offering of a training and educational programming hosted on Main campus and presented in collaboration with trained sexual assault advocates from WOAR.

During Sexual Assault Awareness Month WRC's Liz Zadnik instructs classes on how to report sexual misconduct and ways to offer support to anyone who needs assistance.

Tuttleman Counseling Services provides counseling services to students who have experienced sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation. Temple University's Sexual Assault Counseling and Education (SACE) program staff at the Tuttleman Counseling Services provide crisis intervention counseling and referrals. For more information about this program and other counseling services, contact Tuttleman Counseling Services at (215) 204-7276.

Temple's Department of Human Resources provides training to university employees that covers Pennsylvania's definitions of sexual assault, consent, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation, and information regarding support resources for employees who experience sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation. These sessions may include how to request schedule changes, work assignment changes, transportation accommodations and referrals to appropriate law enforcement agencies as well as the Employee Assistance Program and other external resources.

REPORTING SEXUAL ASSAULT, DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, DATING VIOLENCE, STALKING, AND SEXUAL EXPLOITATION

Victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation, should get to a place of safety immediately and should obtain necessary medical treatment at once. Victims should report the incident as soon as possible, since time is a critical factor for evidence collection and preservation. As time passes, evidence may dissipate or become lost or unavailable, thereby making investigation, possible prosecution, disciplinary proceedings, or obtaining protection from abuse orders related to the incident more difficult. If a victim chooses not to make a complaint regarding an incident, they nevertheless should consider speaking with Campus Safety Services or other law enforcement to preserve evidence in the event of a later change of mind. If they choose, victims may be transported to the Philadelphia Sexual Assault Response Center where they can complete a forensic examination and choose to begin an investigation through the Philadelphia Police Special Victims Unit.

Information about what to do in the event of sexual violence or sexual misconduct can be found at <https://sexualmisconduct.temple.edu/>.

To report an incident anonymously or with your name, use this form to access Temple's Title IX Anonymous Online Reporting System: <https://www.pavesuite.com/Temple/PublicPortal/HomePage>.

Individuals reporting sexual misconduct will receive amnesty from alcohol or drug violations pursuant to the university's Student Conduct Code and policy on Preventing and Addressing Sexual Misconduct.

Victims should report incidents of sexual assault occurring on Main Campus, Health Sciences Center, Center City, Podiatry, and Ambler campuses to Temple Police by dialing 1-1234 (from a campus phone) or (215) 204-1234 (from a non-campus phone) or (215) 204-2357 (from a TTY phone). Temple Police will assist victims in reporting the incident to the appropriate local law enforcement, should they so choose. Victims may report the incident directly to local law enforcement by calling 9-1-1 should they prefer.

Sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation occurring at other campuses, including Ambler and Harrisburg, at TASB, or off-campus should be reported to local law enforcement at 9-1-1 or the local country's equivalent.

In Japan, police can be reached 1-1-0 or 03-3503-8484 (weekdays 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.).

At Temple University Rome, police can be reached at 1-1-3.

Regardless of the location, individuals may also report an incident to Temple's Title IX Coordinator.

Anonymous reports of sexual misconduct can also be made to Temple's Ethics and Compliance Helpline (<https://www.temple.edu/about/ethics-compliance/helpline>).

In the midst of campus life, it may be challenging to focus. Yet the message is clear: respect others and obey university policies and state and federal laws.

At the victim's discretion, Temple University personnel will assist the victim in notifying local authorities and receiving the necessary medical treatments and tests. Filing a police report provides the opportunity for the collection of evidence and assures the victim access to confidential counseling through the City of Philadelphia in addition to resources available through the university. Reporting an incident of sexual assault does not require prosecution of a crime, nor will it subject the victim to judgment or scrutiny. Temple University does not tolerate retaliation against persons reporting sexual assaults, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation.

Whether they pursue a criminal complaint or not, victims may also file a complaint through Temple University administration. The University's informal and formal procedures for filing a complaint are set out below and are intended to afford a prompt response to charges of sexual assault, to maintain confidentiality and fairness consistent with applicable legal requirements, and to impose appropriate sanctions for violations of this policy.

If complainants would like to remain anonymous and do not consent to the disclosure of their name or other identifiable information to the accused, the university may be limited in its ability to take disciplinary action.

CONFIDENTIALITY

If the complainant wishes to remain anonymous, the university will make every reasonable effort to abide by complainant's wishes; however, the university is required to balance such a request with its interest in protecting the safety of other members of the community. The university's Title IX Coordinator, the Executive Director of Campus Safety Services, and the Dean of Students, or their designees, in conjunction with the Office of University Counsel as well as any other necessary university offices, will make this decision. If the university proceeds with an investigation or other response, then the university will notify the complainant before the accused is contacted.

The university will protect the identity of persons who report having been victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation to the fullest extent of the law.

Student and employee victims of sexual misconduct can report incidents confidentially to:

- The Psychological Services Center (PSC)
Telephone: 215-204-7100 or e-mail psc@temple.edu to request an appointment.

The PSC is located in Temple University's Entertainment and Community Education Center (ECEC) at 1509 Cecil B. Moore Ave, Suite 420, Philadelphia, PA 19121.

Regardless of where an incident of sexual misconduct occurs, Temple will provide a victim of sexual assault, domestic or dating violence, stalking, or sexual exploitation with a copy of the university's policy or other statement containing a written explanation of the victim's rights and options.

- Formal Complaints

Persons wishing to file formal complaints of sexual misconduct may contact the Title IX Coordinator or Campus Safety Services, who are primarily responsible for coordinating university investigations of these complaints. At the complainant's request, the Philadelphia Police Department's Special Victims Unit will be contacted to lead any criminal investigation. All formal complaints will be treated confidentially, consistent with applicable legal requirements and customary law enforcement practices. Victims will be informed promptly of available support services, as well as legal and administrative options, if reasonably available, such as protection from abuse orders through an appropriate court of law and changes to housing assignments and academic or work schedules.

Complainants will be informed about the outcome of any investigation undertaken by the university. In addition, under appropriate circumstances, the university will inform members of the university community of reported sexual misconduct without identifying the victim. In appropriate cases, reports made to Campus Safety Services will automatically be referred to the Office of Student Conduct and Community Standards.

Whether or not criminal charges are filed, a person may file a complaint with the University. If the alleged respondent is a student, the matter can be handled under the Student Conduct Code (policy number 03.70.12) alleging that a student violated the university's policy on Preventing and Addressing Sexual Misconduct.

The university recognizes that sexual assault may also be considered sexual harassment. A person alleging sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual exploitation may also utilize the complaint and investigatory procedures set forth in the university's policy against Sexual Harassment (policy number 04.82.01) in order to remedy any hostile environment. Sexual Harassment complaints will be investigated by either the Office of Equal Opportunity Compliance (www.temple.edu/eoc) or the Title IX coordinator located in Sullivan Hall, Floor 3M (sexualmisconduct.temple.edu). All conduct proceedings against students, however, will be resolved through the Student Conduct Code. All discipline for employees will be addressed through an impartial investigation and resolved promptly and fairly through the appropriate disciplinary process, which will afford the victim appropriate rights and considerations through the appropriate investigatory and hearing process.

- Informal Complaints

If a person reports to a university administrator, department head, or faculty member that sexual misconduct has occurred but chooses not to file a formal complaint at that time, the person, if a student, will be referred immediately to Tuttleman Counseling Services and promptly notified of available support services on and off campus and alternative remedies. Employees will be referred to the EAP and other resources. Temple's Title IX coordinator will also be made aware of the incident.

Informal complaints to university personnel will be treated as confidentially as possible consistent with applicable legal requirements and safety considerations. Complainants should also consider speaking with the Title IX Coordinator, Andrea Seiss, located in Sullivan Hall, Floor 3M, 215-204-3283 (sexualmisconduct.temple.edu) who can help guide them through the appropriate process. The Title IX coordinator will reach out directly to anyone referred to the Title IX office to provide information, and the opportunity to meet and discuss complaint resolution options, as well as any accommodations that the student might need.

When complainants do not consent to the disclosure of their name or other identifiable information to the alleged perpetrator, the university's ability to respond to the complaint may be limited.

- Information about Support Services

Victims will be promptly informed in writing of available support services, as well as legal and administrative options, if reasonably available at Temple or the local community, such as protection from abuse orders through an appropriate court of law and changes to housing assignments and academic or work schedules. Other accommodations that may be available are institutional stay-away orders, counseling services, financial aid advising or support, and immigration and visa information.

STUDENT CONDUCT PROCEEDINGS IN CASES OF SEXUAL MISCONDUCT

In appropriate cases, complaints will lead to the initiation of disciplinary procedures, which will include a non-criminal fact finding investigation. As set forth in the university's Student Conduct Code, the university disciplinary process will be prompt, fair, transparent and conducted by impartial board members or a third party neutral. These entities have appropriate training on issues of sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation and on conducting hearings that protect victim's safety and promote accountability. The Student Conduct Code provides that:

1. The accuser and the accused student each have timely notice of meetings and the opportunity to attend and to present evidence at a hearing before a properly trained hearing board that may be a third party neutral;
2. The accuser and the accused student each have the opportunity to be advised by a personal advisor of their choice, at their expense, at any stage of the process and to be accompanied by that advisor at any meeting or hearing. Advisors may only consult and advise their advisee, but not speak for the advisees at any meeting or hearing;
3. A student conduct decision is based on the "more likely than not" standard. In other words, the conduct process asks: "is it more likely than not that the accused student violated the university's Student Conduct Code?"
4. The accuser and the accused student will be notified simultaneously in writing of any university disciplinary actions taken against the accused student, as well as any changes to those disciplinary actions before they become final;
5. The accuser and the accused student each have the right to appeal the result of the hearing and will receive notice of their rights to appeal in writing;
6. The accuser and the accused will be notified simultaneously in writing of the final result after the appeal is resolved.

The Office of Student Conduct and Community Standards is located in Room 318 of the Howard Gittis Student Center.

A victim who wishes to make a complaint through the student conduct process can consult with the Title IX Coordinator, a victim advocate in Campus Safety Services (215-204-5870), the Wellness Resources Center (215-204-8436), the Office of Student Conduct and Community Standards (215-204-3286), or the Sexual Assault Counseling and Education Unit of Tuttleman Counseling Services (215-204-7276) for more information on what to expect in the conduct process and to receive support through that process.

Student conduct records are confidential student records and will not be released to the public except as required by law.

Temple University is aware of the sensitive nature of sexual assault complaints and can make accommodations to address a victim's need for separation from the accused, while also balancing the rights of the accused. University sanctions, up to and including separation from the university, may be imposed upon those determined to have violated the university's policies related to sexual assault, domestic or dating violence, stalking, or sexual exploitation. For students, sexual assault, domestic or dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation are violations of the Student Conduct Code, subjecting a perpetrator to disciplinary sanctions up to and including expulsion from the university. Sexual assault, domestic or dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation are criminal acts which also subjects the perpetrator to criminal and civil penalties under federal and state law.

Sanctions for students found responsible for sexual assault, domestic or dating violence, stalking, sexual exploitation can include, individually or collectively:

- disciplinary probation
- no-contact orders
- suspension or expulsion from university housing
- educational programming
- suspension or expulsion from the university

ASSISTANCE FOR SEXUAL MISCONDUCT VICTIMS

University internal investigations and any disciplinary or remedial actions are independent of any civil, criminal or external administrative investigation. The university may pursue an investigation, take appropriate remedial action and/or impose disciplinary sanctions against a member of the university community at the same time the individual is facing criminal charges for the same incident, even if the criminal prosecution is pending, has been dismissed, or the charges have been reduced.

Whether or not a victim elects to report the offense to police, with the victim's cooperation and consent, university offices, including the Title IX Coordinator, Campus Safety Services, Tuttleman Counseling Services, the Wellness Resource Center, and the victim advocate at Campus Safety Services will work cooperatively to ensure that the complainant's health, physical safety, and academic status are protected. For example, if reasonably available, a complainant may be offered changes to academic, work, or living situations in addition to counseling, health services and assistance in notifying appropriate local law enforcement, if so desired.

Student counseling services are available at Tuttleman Counseling Services (<https://counseling.temple.edu/>). Within Tuttleman Counseling Services, if the victim requests it, the Sexual Assault Counseling and Education (SACE) coordinator can coordinate assistance and support for persons who report being victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual exploitation, including coordination of matters relating to the person's physical and mental health, personal safety, and academic status. The SACE coordinator can keep conversations and interactions with victims of sexual violence confidential.

A victim of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual exploitation can obtain additional support through the Wellness Resource Center (<https://wellness.temple.edu/>) or the university's Title IX Coordinator, Andrea Seiss, located in Sullivan Hall, Floor 3M (215-204-3283). Due to various reporting requirements, the Wellness Resource Center and Office of Equal Opportunity Compliance personnel and the Title IX Coordinator will handle all information they receive discreetly, however, their interactions with a victim are not confidential.

Leaving the state capital in Harrisburg has inspired these Temple Owls to focus on promoting equality and appropriating more community resources.

Protection from abuse orders may be available through an appropriate court. Campus Safety Services can also issue preliminary verbal directives requiring two parties not interact with one another.

POLICIES CONCERNING STUDENTS/EMPLOYEES WITH CRIMINAL RECORDS

Temple University does not conduct background investigations on prospective students. If Temple receives information in the application process concerning a prospective student's criminal conduct, it is given appropriate consideration. Currently enrolled students who are charged with and/or convicted of a criminal offense are subject to Temple's Student Conduct Code and the full range of available disciplinary sanctions.

Temple University employs about 8,200 non-student employees. Temple University conducts background checks for individuals recommended for hire in certain selected positions. Examples of the type of positions for which Temple University may conduct a background check include, but are not limited to:

1. Positions that are designated as financially sensitive, such as billers, medical receptionists/schedulers, and cashiers,
2. Positions that require driving as an essential duty of the position, such as drivers, coaches, and refuse haulers,
3. Positions that involve work with minors,
4. Positions that are safety sensitive, such as security officers and police officers, and
5. Positions that have access to student living areas.

Background checks include, depending on the position, a criminal history check, a civil litigation check, a driving record check, a child abuse check, a credit/bankruptcy check, and/or a drug/alcohol screening. A complete list of positions subject to these checks is available in the Human Resources Department. Information received will be considered carefully in the context of the essential duties of the position. Information received through the background check process will not necessarily disqualify the applicant from further consideration or eventual hiring. The results of any check will be considered in light of surrounding circumstances, including, and without limitation to, the nature and gravity of the incident(s) reported, the time that has passed since, remedial actions taken by the individual, and the nature of the position and the potential impact of the incident(s) on the person's ability to safely and appropriately perform the duties of the job.

Safety is the priority of our team (from top to bottom): Allied Universal Officer Mark McKeown, Sergeant Francisco Gonzalez Jr., Corporal Adam Flanner, Police Officer Emily Grawehr, Police Officer Andrew McCloskey, Allied Universal Officer Leonard McCaskill, Security Officer Derrick Glenn, Police Officer Shelten Green, and Police Officer James Jones.

Temple is a tobacco-free university. The use of tobacco is also prohibited outdoors on all U.S. Temple University campus property, including, but not limited to, parking lots, loading docks, covered entrances, paths, fields, sports/recreational facilities, stadiums, walkways and plazas. Where Temple buildings are adjacent to public sidewalks or streets, smoking and the use of tobacco products is prohibited on those public sidewalks and streets within twenty (20) feet of the entrance to the building.

FIRE SAFETY

Fire Safety Features in On-Campus Student Housing Facilities

The on-campus student housing facilities at Temple University have a variety of fire safety features, as indicated below. All halls have automatic sprinkler systems, building alarm systems (which Temple Police monitor), fire extinguishers, and fire rated doors.

In addition to the foregoing safety features, fire drills are conducted in each of these buildings twice per year to ensure that students are aware of procedures to follow in the event of an actual fire.

PROHIBITED ITEMS

To prevent fire or spread of fire, the following items are prohibited in the residential halls (for a full list, see <https://housing.temple.edu/resources-and-services/rights-and-responsibilities>):

- Candles
- Incense
- Live Christmas trees
- Portable heaters
- Appliances exceeding 50 watts
- Heat generating appliances (toasters, heat lamps, tanning lamps, convection ovens, etc.)
- Hot plates
- Ceiling tapestries
- Aromatherapy oil burners
- Extension cords
- Halogen lamps/bulbs
- Electric skateboards (e.g. Hover-boards/scooters)

TOBACCO-FREE CAMPUS

Temple is a tobacco-free university. The use of tobacco is also prohibited outdoors on all U.S. Temple University campus property, including, but not limited to, parking lots, loading docks, covered entrances, paths, fields, sports/recreational facilities, stadiums, walkways and plazas. Where Temple buildings are adjacent to public sidewalks or streets, smoking and the use of tobacco products is prohibited on those public sidewalks and streets within twenty (20) feet of the entrance to the building. In addition, all indoor university-sponsored activities taking place in facilities not owned or operated by Temple University will be tobacco-free in those areas under the university's control.

For all Temple students, smoking in university facilities is a violation of the Student Conduct Code. Violation of the policy on smoking will be handled in the same way as other violations of the code. Violations of this policy by residential students in university housing facilities will be addressed by the Residence Life staff.

For university employees, this policy will be enforced in accordance with rules and regulations in the Employee Manual.

PROCEDURES FOR EVACUATING STUDENT HOUSING IN CASE OF FIRE

With the exception of Morgan Hall (North and South), The Edge and The Nest, all on-campus student housing facilities must fully evacuate upon activation of the fire alarm. At Morgan Hall (North and South), The Edge and The Nest, evacuation occurs on the floor of the alarm and on the floors above and below the alarm. The remaining floors should await notification and instructions from the Fire Marshal or other university personnel regarding evacuation.

- If you discover a fire or smell smoke, sound the building fire alarm. Know the location of the alarm signal stations and how they operate. The security officer stationed in the lobby will call Temple Police when an alarm is transmitted. Temple Police will notify the Fire Department without delay by dialing 9-1-1.

- When the fire alarm sounds, leave at once. Close all doors behind you. Proceed into the fire exit and leave the building.
- Do not use the elevators. They will stop if power fails, causing occupants to become trapped. Elevator shafts are like chimneys. Smoke could enter the elevator shaft thereby asphyxiating the occupants trying to evacuate the building. Use the stairs.
- Feel the door that leads from your room to the corridor before opening it. If it is hot or smoke is seeping in, do not open it. If you become trapped in your room and cannot reach the fire exit, keep the door closed and seal off any cracks. Use a phone to call the Fire Department by dialing 9-1-1 or (215) 204-1234 and give your specific location including the floor and room number.
- If the door feels cool, open cautiously. Be braced to slam it shut if the corridor is full of smoke or if you feel heat pressure against the door. If the corridor is clear, proceed with the escape plan.
- After leaving the building, keep moving for at least 200 feet and proceed to the designated rally point. Do not re-enter until given permission by Temple Police or the Fire Department.
- People with Mobility Limitations: Responsible person or persons should be designated to assist students and employees in the event of fire. Persons needing assistance to exit a building should be taken into the fire exit and remain on the landing. Once situated on the stairwell landing, call Temple Police at (215) 204-1234 or the Philadelphia Fire Department at 9-1-1. Identify which stairwell you are in and on which floor you are located. Be sure to indicate if you require special equipment to descend the stairs. The Fire Department should arrive in minutes to assist.
- If caught in smoke or heat, stay low where air is better. Take short breaths through the nose until you reach an area of refuge.
- Keep all fire exit and corridor doors closed at all times. These doors are fire-rated to keep smoke and heat from entering stairways and adjoining corridors. If at any time you observe these doors propped or tied open, please close them and report the location to the university Fire Marshal, (215) 204-7938.

FIRE SAFETY EDUCATION

Fire prevention, evacuation, and fire extinguisher training are provided for all Resident Directors, Resident Assistants, and other residence hall staff.

If a fire occurs, students are instructed to leave hazardous areas using the established evacuation routes and get to a pre-determined rally point before calling 9-1-1 for help. They are to remain at the rally point so that the director of Student Housing or someone from the Student Housing office has documented that the student has left the building. RAs are instructed to pull the fire alarm as they are leaving the building if they can do so without risking their safety.

Additionally, Temple Police and security officers are designated by the university and trained to assist in safe and orderly emergency evacuation for all types of emergency situations. These employees will help direct all employees and students during emergency evacuation, serve as a resource of information about emergency procedures, and conduct head counts once evacuation has been completed.

REPORTING A FIRE “AFTER THE FACT” FOR STATISTICAL PURPOSES

Temple University is required under federal law to annually disclose statistical data on all fires that occur in on-campus student housing facilities. Listed below are the non-emergency numbers to call to report fires that have already been extinguished in on-campus student housing.

Campus Safety Services	(215) 204-1234

FUTURE IMPROVEMENTS IN FIRE SAFETY

The Temple University Fire Prevention Plan (FPP) applies to all operations in the university where employees and students may encounter a fire. This FPP is in place at the university to control and reduce the possibility of fire and to specify the type of equipment to use in case of fire.

Under this plan, employees and students will be informed of the plan's purpose, preferred means of reporting fires and other emergencies, types of evacuations to be used in various emergency situations, and the alarm systems. The FPP communicates to employees and students policies and procedures to follow when fires erupt. This written plan is available, upon request, to employees and students, their designated representatives, and any Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) officials who ask to see it. The written program is kept in the Fire Marshal's Office. The plan is periodically reviewed and updated. Copies of this plan may be obtained from the Fire Marshal's Office and the Workers' Compensation Manager.

Temple University is committed to the success of the FPP, striving for clear understanding, safe behavior, and involvement in the program for everyone. All suggestions and improvements to the Plan are welcome. Please address any comments to University Fire Marshal John Higgins at (215) 204-8687.

Fire Marshall John Maule explains the importance of the fire alarm box to evacuate the building quickly and contact emergency personnel.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act [20 U.S.C. § 1092(f)] is a federal law that requires colleges and universities to disclose information about crime on and around their campuses.

The following pages provide crime rates and statistics for each of Temple's campuses for the 2018, 2017, and 2016 calendar years as required by federal law.

CRIME RATES AND STATISTICS

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act [20 U.S.C. § 1092(f)] is a federal law that requires colleges and universities to disclose information about crime on and around their campuses. The following pages provide crime rates and statistics for each of Temple's campuses for the 2018, 2017, and 2016 calendar years as required by federal law.

The Clery Act requires that the following "Clery crimes" be reported:

- Murders
- Robberies
- Burglaries
- Arson
- Sex Offenses
- Liquor Law Violations
- Weapons Possessions
- Stalking
- Manslaughters by Negligence
- Aggravated Assaults
- Motor Vehicle Thefts
- Domestic Violence
- Dating Violence
- Drug Abuse Violations
- Hate Crimes

These crimes are sorted by year and location of occurrence.

Note: Crimes reported in the "On Campus Student Housing" columns are also accounted for in the "On-Campus" column.

Information on reported hate crimes for each campus is also provided and includes statistics obtained from local law enforcement using good faith efforts. This information includes the year of the incident, the type of offense, where the incident occurred on campus, and the type of discrimination involved. Types of discrimination reported include discrimination based on race, gender, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity, ethnicity, or disability.

In addition, The Pennsylvania Uniform Crime Reporting Act mandates the release of crime statistics and rates to matriculated students and employees, and, upon request, to new employees and applicants for admission. The index rate is calculated by multiplying the actual number of reported offenses by 100,000 (a theoretical population for comparison purposes) and dividing that product by the number of the University's Full Time Equivalent (FTE) students and employees. The FTE is calculated using a state required formula.

Note: The FTE figure does not include the large number of people who visit our campuses every day. If the number of campus visitors were included, the actual Crime Index rates would be substantially lower.

The coordinated efforts of TUPD personnel and Allied Universal security maintain safety on the Broad Street at the HSC campus.
